The Boy

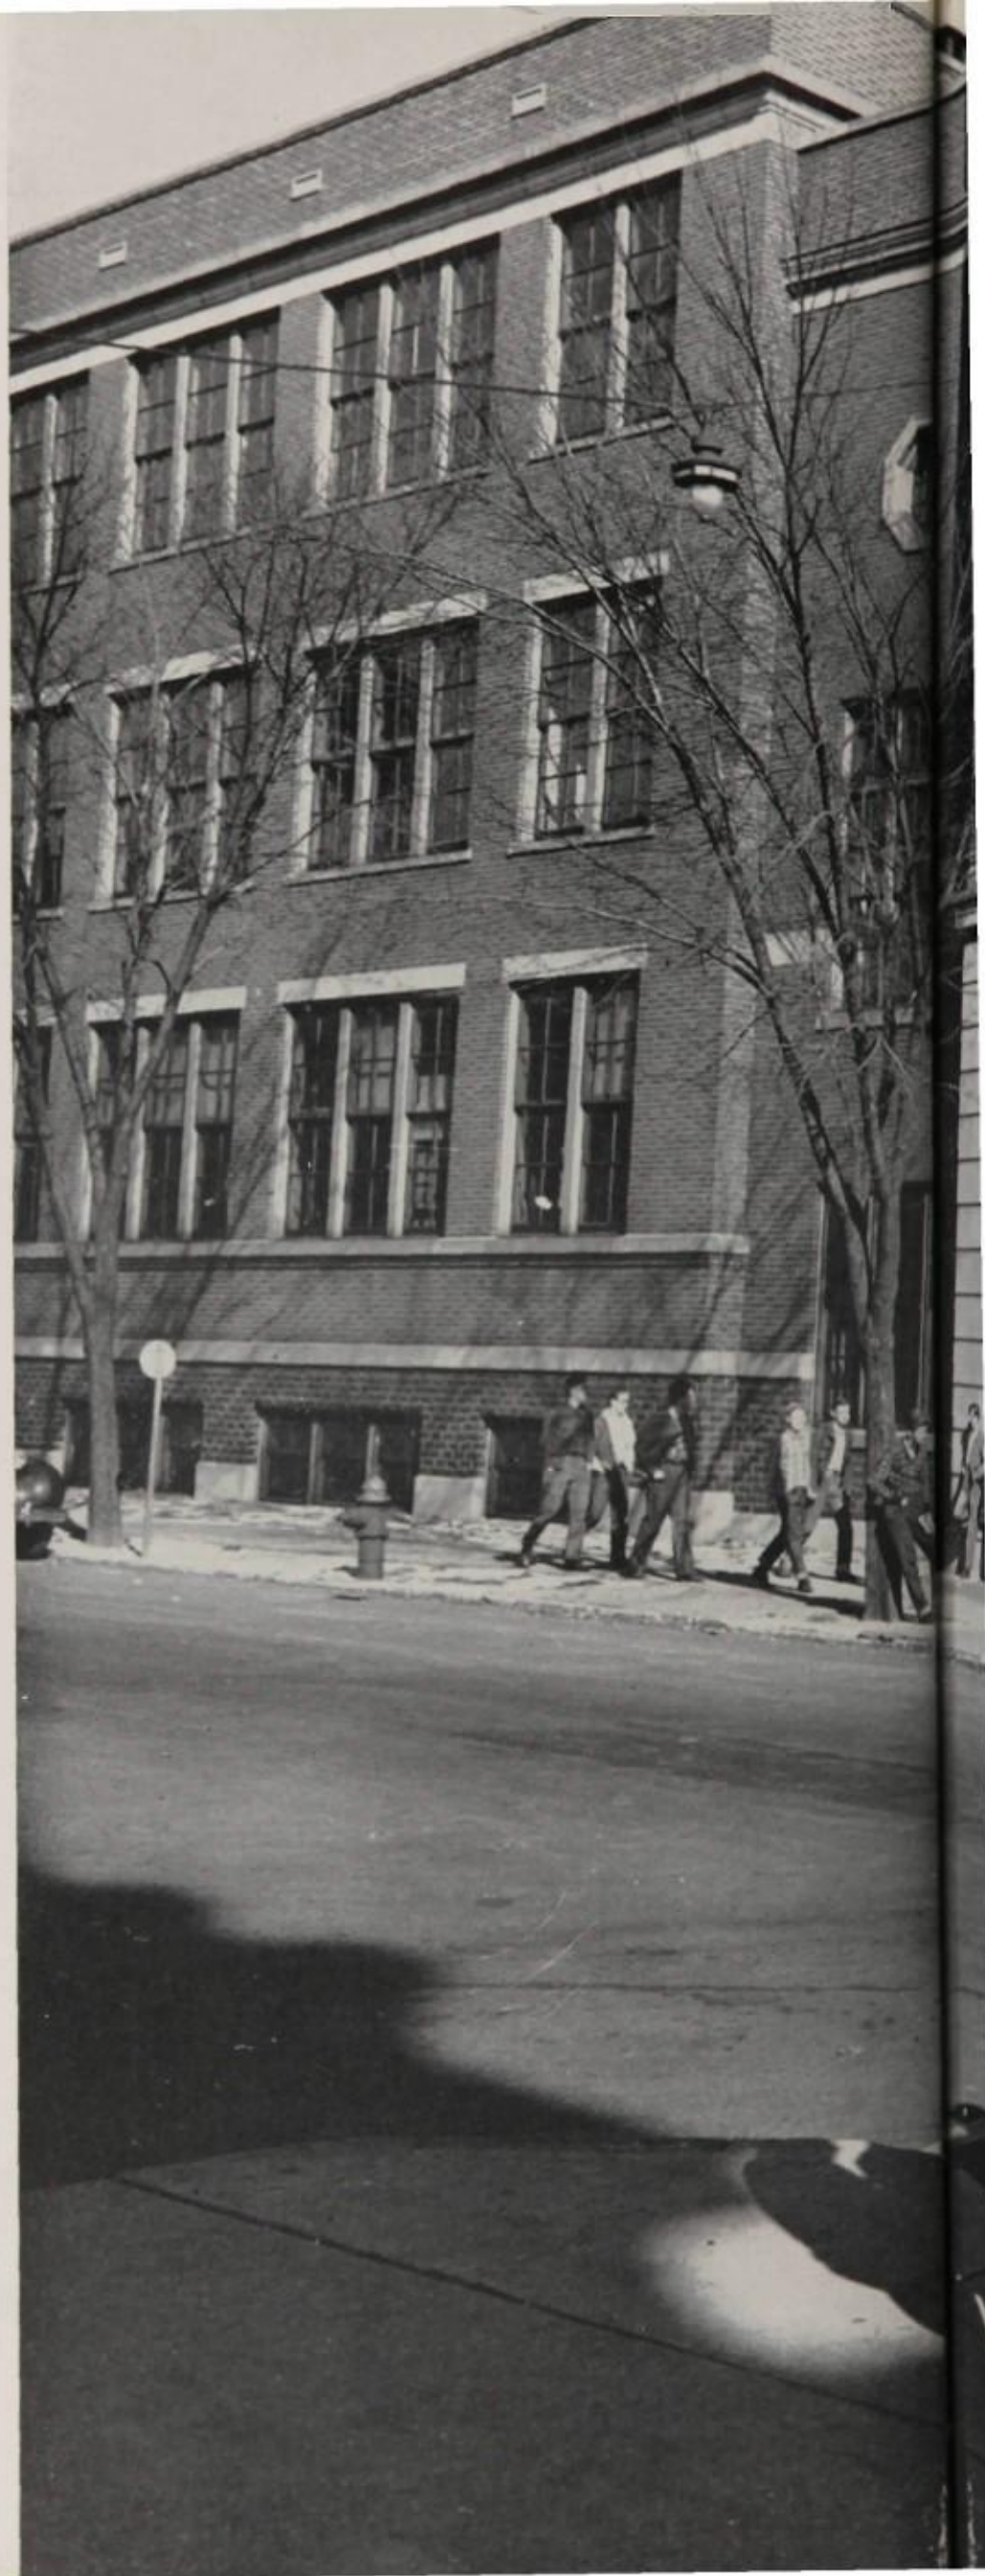

By Edgar A. Guest

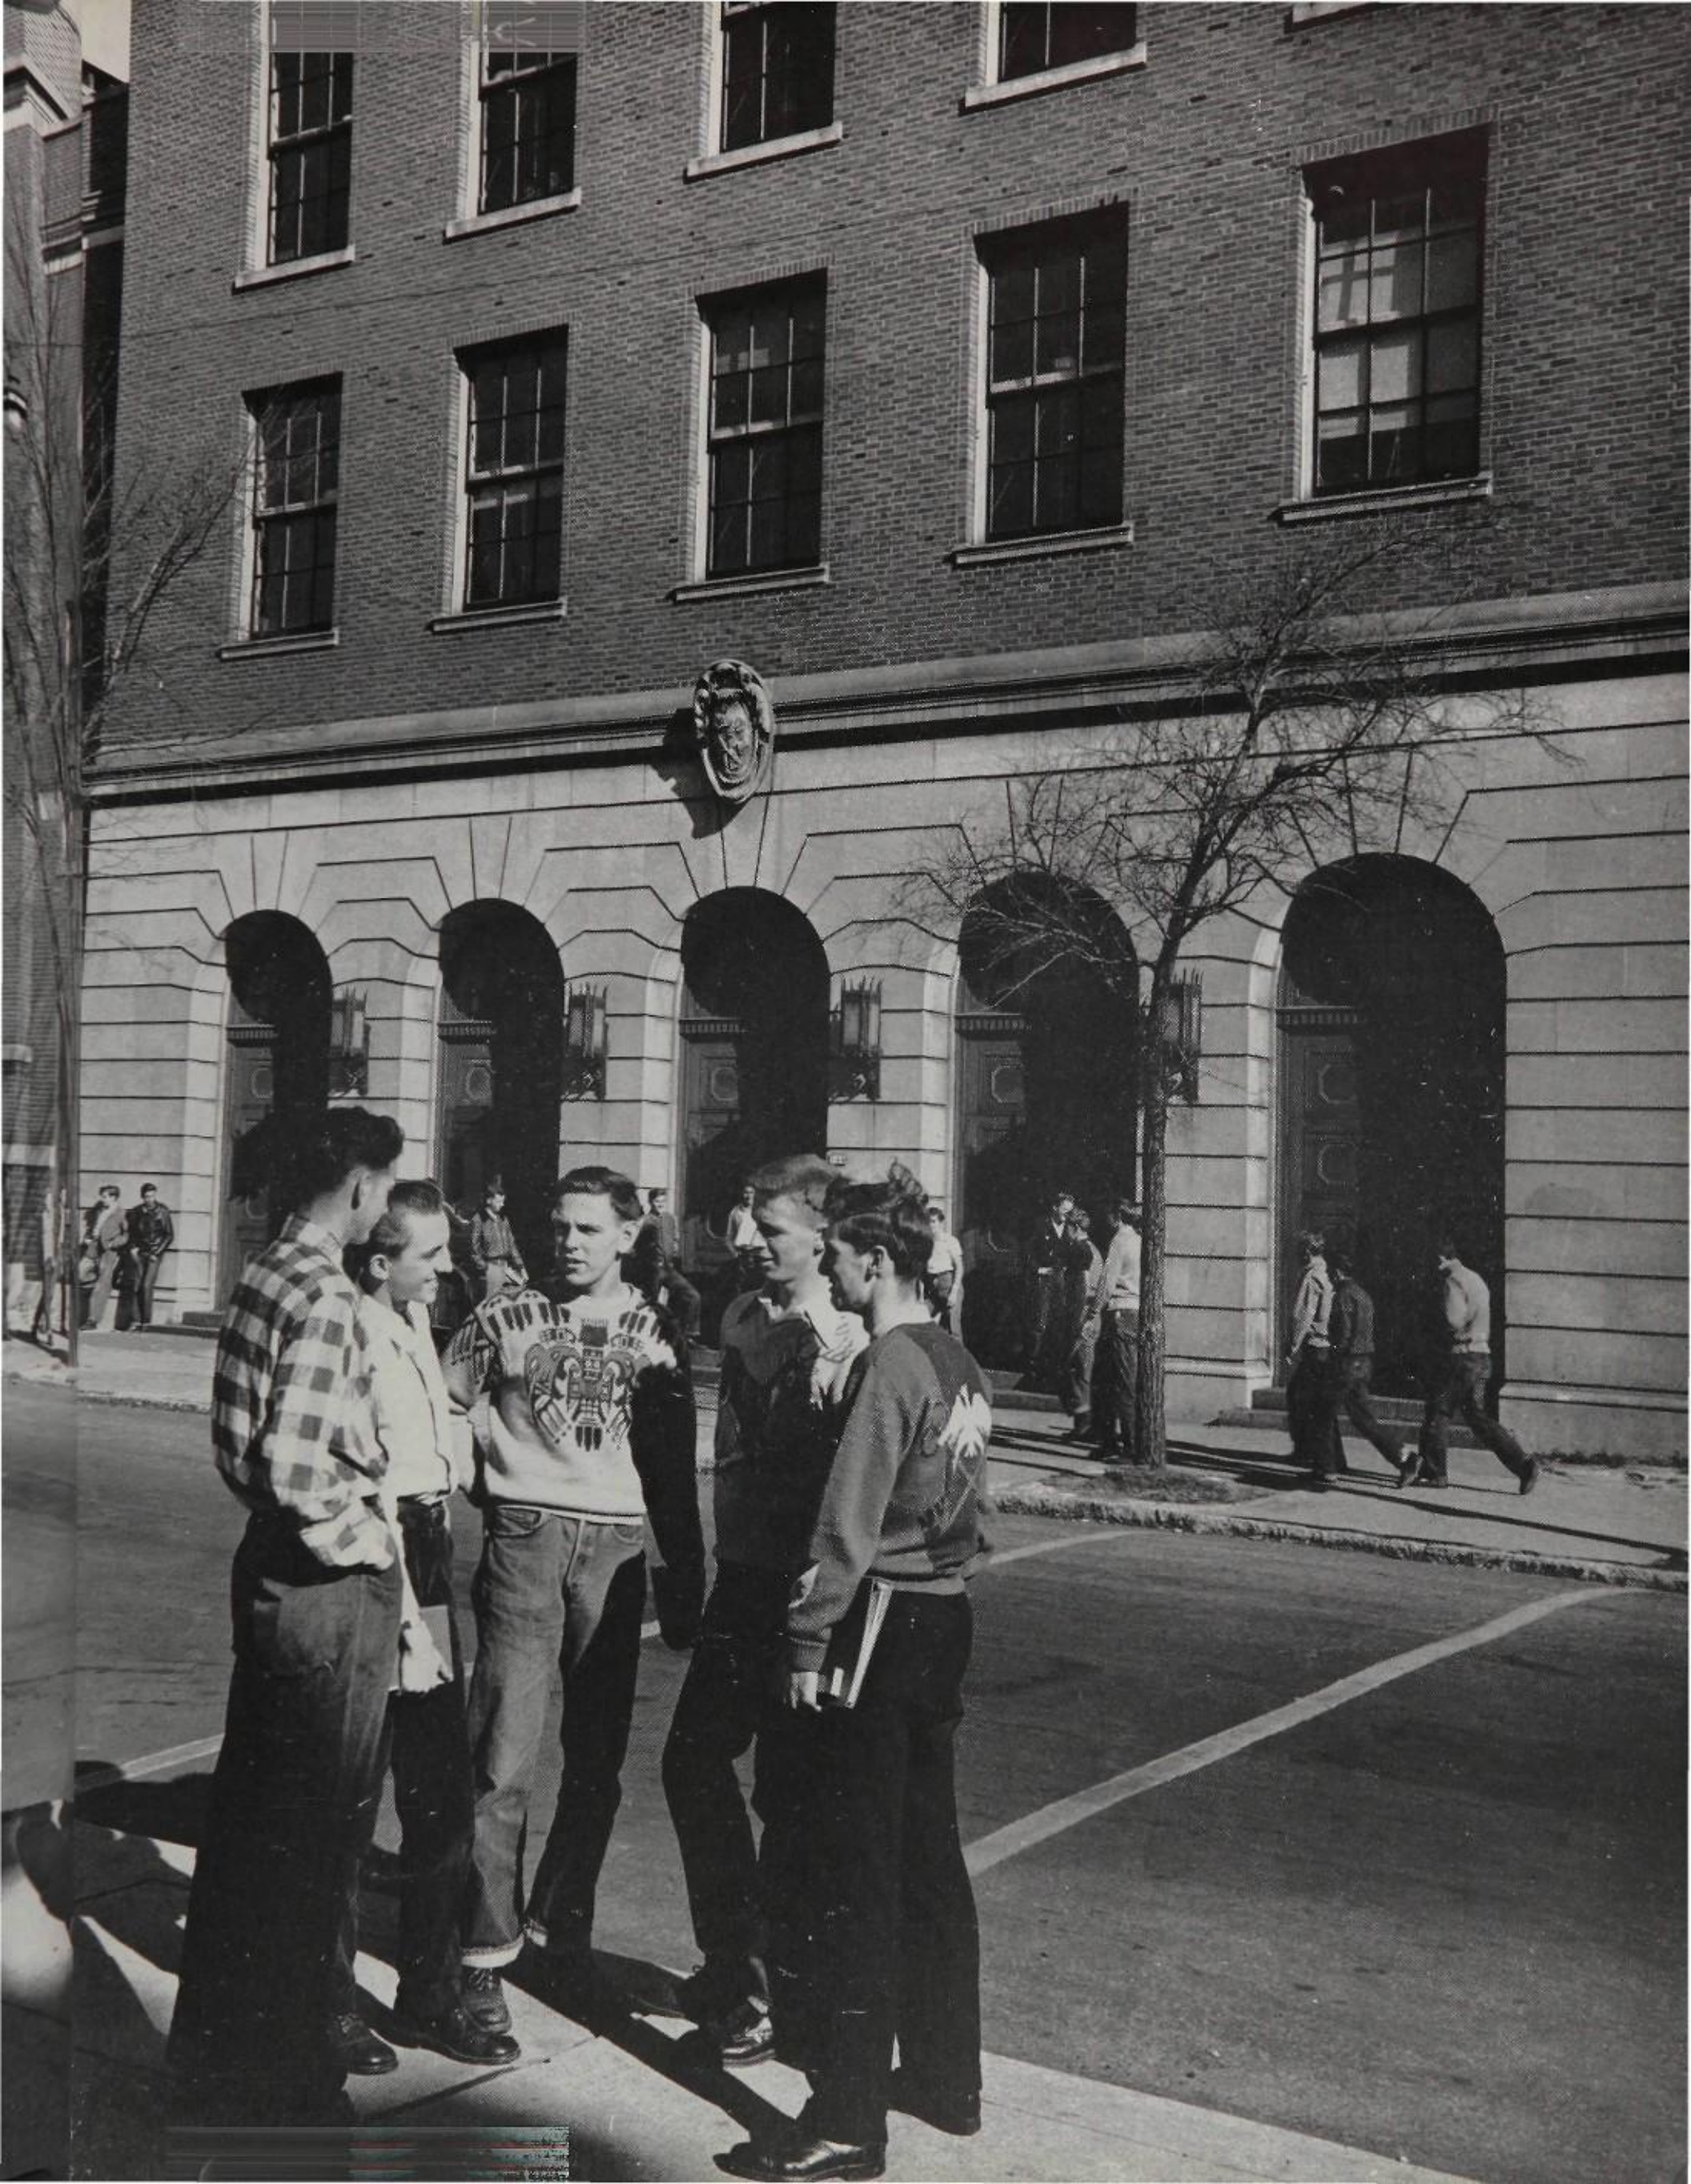

A possible man of affairs,
A possible leader of men,
Back of the grin that he wears
There may be the courage of ten;
Lawyer or merchant or priest,
Artist or singer of joy,
This, when his strength is increased,
Is what may become of the boy.

Heedless and mischievous now,
Spending his boyhood in play,
Yet glory may rest on his brow
And fame may exalt him some day;
A skill that the world shall admire,
Strength that the world shall employ,
And faith that shall burn as a fire,
Are what may be found in the boy.

He with the freckles and tan,
He with that fun-loving grin,
May rise to great heights as a man
And many a battle may win;
Back of the slang of the streets,
And back of the love of a toy,
It may be a Great Spirit beats,—
Lincoln once played as a boy.

Trace them all back to their youth,
All the great heroes we sing,
Seeking and serving the Truth,
President, poet and king,
Washington, Caesar and Paul,
Homer who sang about Troy,
Jesus, the Greatest of all,—
Each in his time was a boy.

Principal Frederick W. Ziegenhagen

Administering a school the size of Boys' Tech, with its 2400 students and 100 teachers, is not an easy job. The problem is made still more complex by the amount of expensive equipment in our shops. The intricacies of supervising these boys and machines constitute the daily challenge to the thinking, the tact, and the sense of humor of Mr. Ziegenhagen and Mr. Francke, who take all these problems in their stride. Scheduling of classes, working on courses of study, signing requisitions and work orders, conferring with committees, as well as handling the "frictions" and "foibles" that some of our boys seem to develop, are all in a day's work for the principal and the vice principal.

Our Boys Win Honors and Awards

Sivyer Awards were presented to Henry Braaz, James Merlo, Ronald Witt, Donald Szpek, and Bernard Spiegelberg the day before Christmas vacation by Mr. William Frye, chairman of the Sivyer Scholarship Fund (upper right), which was established to encourage trade training at Boys' Tech.

John Stroleny and Glenn Groth, who won prizes in the Industrial Arts Awards sponsored by Scholastic Magazine, were given their certificates by Mr. Ziegenhagen early in September (left center).

Grant Fitch Scholarship winners, Rudolph Santo and Alden Swensen, were congratulated by Mr. Ziegenhagen and Mr. Ellis when they were informed of their selection (lower right). The Fitch Scholarships are given for the University of Wisconsin, and both boys have been attending the Milwaukee Extension Division the past year.

Mr. Alexander Hanel (upper left) pages through a copy of his recently published book on Pattern Making, and Dr. W. W. Theisen, acting superintendent of schools, is shown at the school mike (lower left) addressing a Lincoln Day assembly.

And School Dignitaries Visit Tech

Leroy Gricar, who has been paralyzed for the last two years, completed the requirements for graduation by home study, and was presented his diploma at his home by Mr. Ziegenhagen as a graduate of the Class of January 1950 (upper left). Leroy ranked third in the class despite his handicap of illness. (Milwaukee Journal Photo)

Dr. W. W. Theisen greeted Mr. Erwin Check, a Boys' Tech alumnus who is now an elementary school principal, at a meeting at Boys' Tech of the Curriculum Planning Council, of which our vice principal, Mr. Francke, is also a member (upper right).

Dr. George Wussow, newly-elected president of the Tech Alumni Association last fall, received congratulations (lower left) from Roy Potochnik, who had served as temporary president, and Mr. Ziegenhagen seemed pleased.

Official presentation of the mural "Life on the Mississippi" was made at an assembly last fall (lower right). On stage for the ceremony were Mr. Prugger, Gerald Wentland, Mr. Young, and Mr. Ziegenhagen.

Teachers Assist in Administration

Counseling the boys from the time they enter as Freshmen or Sophomores until they leave as graduating Seniors is the concern of all the teachers, but especially of the six members of the Guidance Office. Chairman Elmer H. Ellis, at the end of the table, confers with his colleagues of 221, Harry Wolff, Wilfred E. Belleau, Lloyd R. Thomas (seated), James L. Fitzpatrick, and Gilbert J. Jautz (standing). One of the series of four tests for incoming students is the subject of this discussion.

Although our boys come from all parts of Milwaukee, Tech's attendance record is consistently one of the best in the city. Part of the credit for this record must go to the teachers who check absences and tardiness (lower right). Fred Schriever, at the extreme right, handles all excuses in the morning, John F. Witeck supervises the tardy office, while Mrs. Connell and Miss Abbie Sullivan spend the seventh and eighth periods respectively checking up on all absences reported during the day.

Another attendance officer is Earl F. Jaeger (upper right), a Tech alumnus and a member of the School Welfare Department, one of whose main jobs is to keep in contact with the homes in cases of prolonged absence.

Lockers, locker keys, and padlocks for the boys constitute another man-sized problem, which has been handled very capably this past year by Carl L. Strelitzer (lower left).

The school physician, Dr. Alfred H. Goodsitt (lower center), who calls three mornings a week, is also well known to many of the boys of Tech, and plays an important part in keeping ours a healthy institution.

Secretaries Play an Important Role

Members of the fair sex are decidedly in the minority at Boys' Tech, but they definitely dominate the offices and a few other important sections of the school. The office force in 131 (upper right) — "Principal's Office," it says on the door — is headed by Miss Ann Schlosser, senior clerk, who supervises all scholastic records. Pictured on each side of her at the pupil program files are Miss Carmela Zanoni and Miss Shirley Ellinger, who handle attendance records, the telephone switchboard, and correspondence.

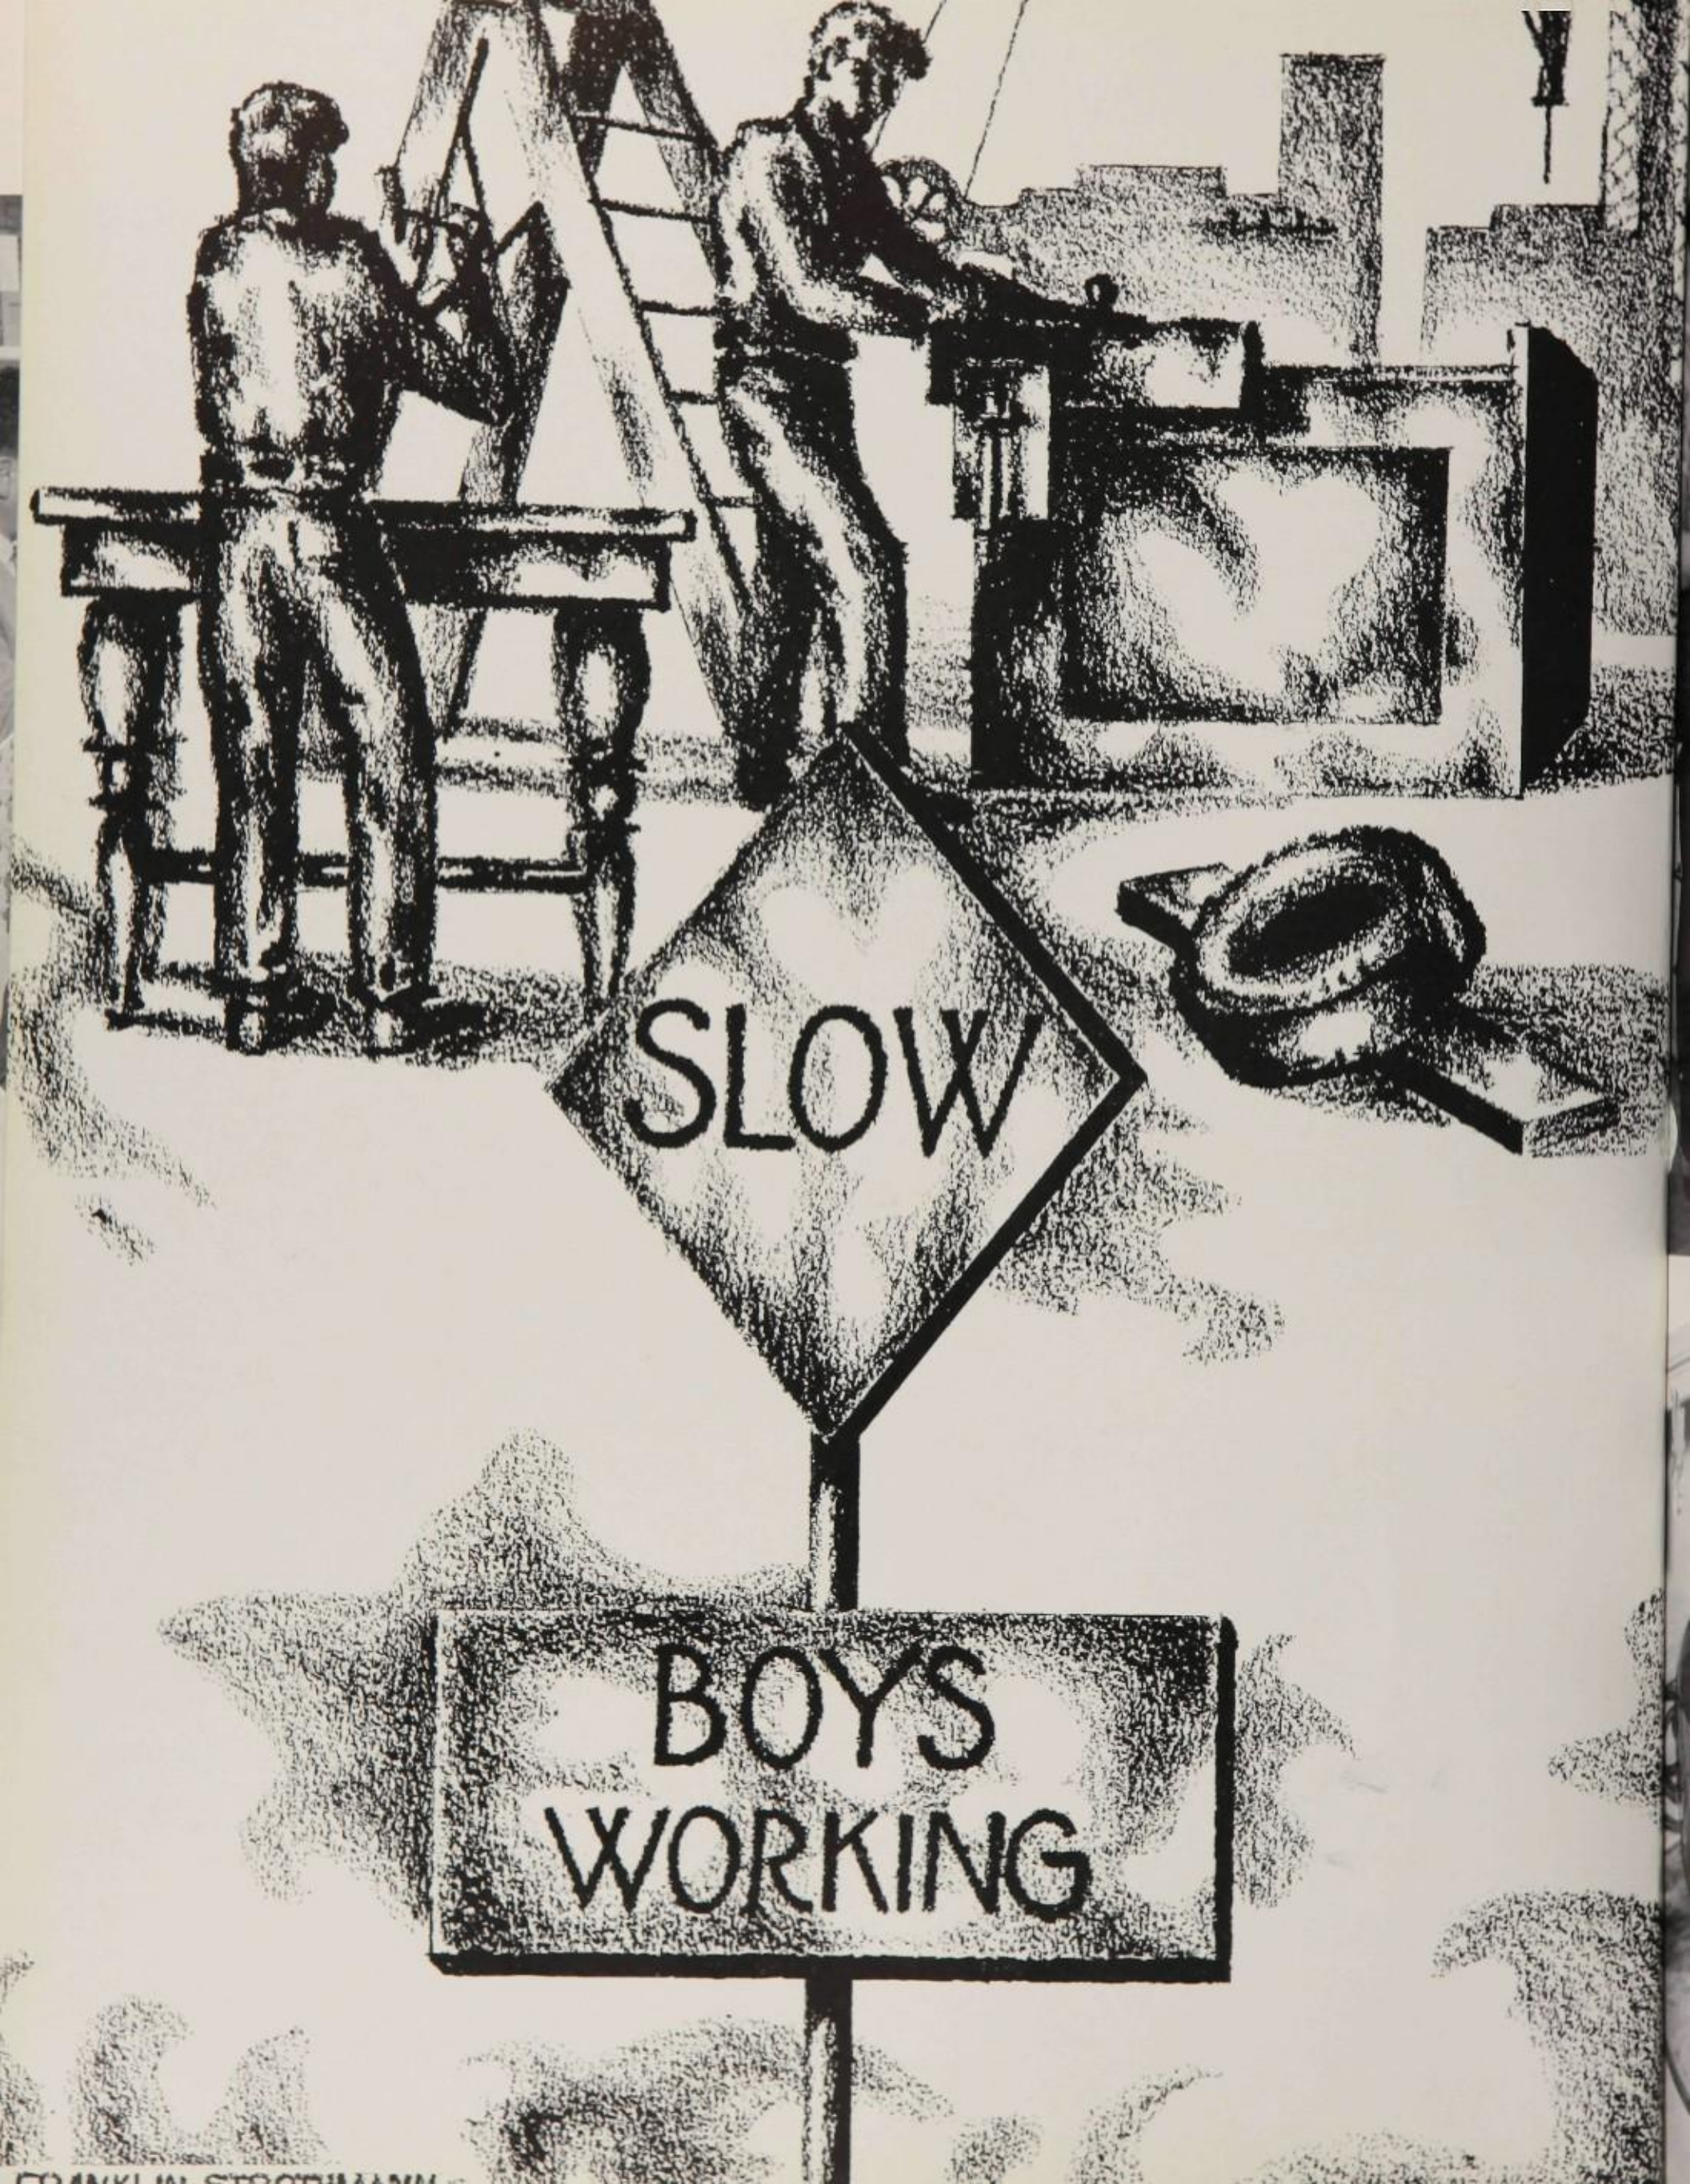

The penny counters at the Accounting Office counter (lower left) are checking the "take" from one day's noon-hour movies. Miss Emily M. Banaszynski, at the left, is chief accounting clerk, and at the time this page went to the engravers, her assistants were Miss Lorraine Casper and Miss Mary Woelfel. Since then Miss Casper has been transferred to 131 to replace Miss Ellinger, who is now at the Mayor's Office, and Miss Joan Boheim has joined the staff in 121.

A busy place before school and during lunch periods is the School Book Store, presided over by Mrs. Irene Haese (upper left), who is assisted by a number of student monitors.

Another important book center and repository of learning is the School Library, where Miss Helen M. Tierney (lower center) holds forth, — also assisted by student monitors. Yes, we have books as well as boys and machines at Boys' Tech.

Rounding out the woman's page is Miss Lorraine Haasch, the school nurse, assistant to Dr. Good-sitt, and thermometer reader in her own right. Her office is Room 26, the meeting place of the pains and the fevers of the school.

SLOW

WORKING

Machinists Learn Precision Techniques

Selecting and cutting stock in the basement storeroom are the assignments of Frank Knauss, Leon Drath, Clarence Krebs, Ron Hayes, and Carl Buehrer, students in Mr. Thom's class.

Don Griebler's job, hardening blades for metal-cutting shears in a heat-treating furnace, seems like a breath-taking experience (center).

Ray Sutilla (lower left) takes exacting pains centering his work on the jig borer, one of the most precise and most expensive machines in the shop.

Using the horizontal mill to side mill vise jaws is the project of Bob Weitkunt and Bob Mueller.

Patternmakers

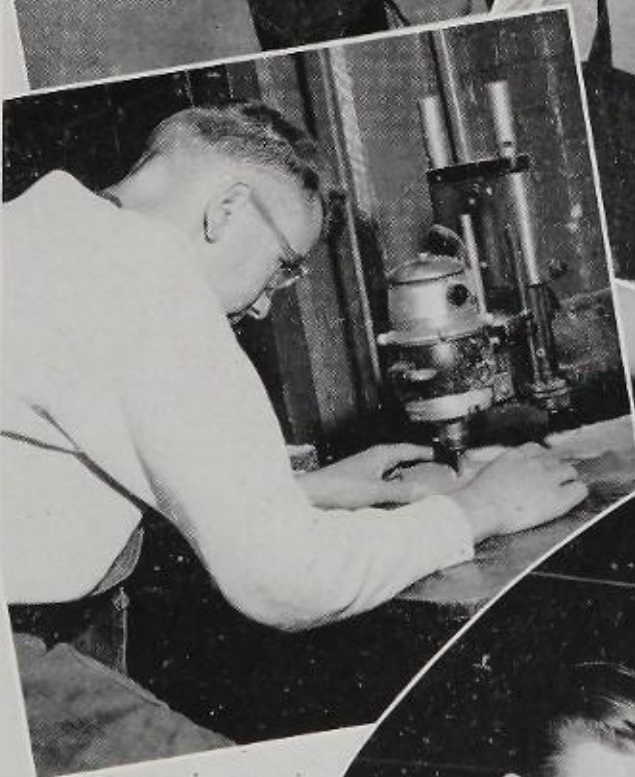

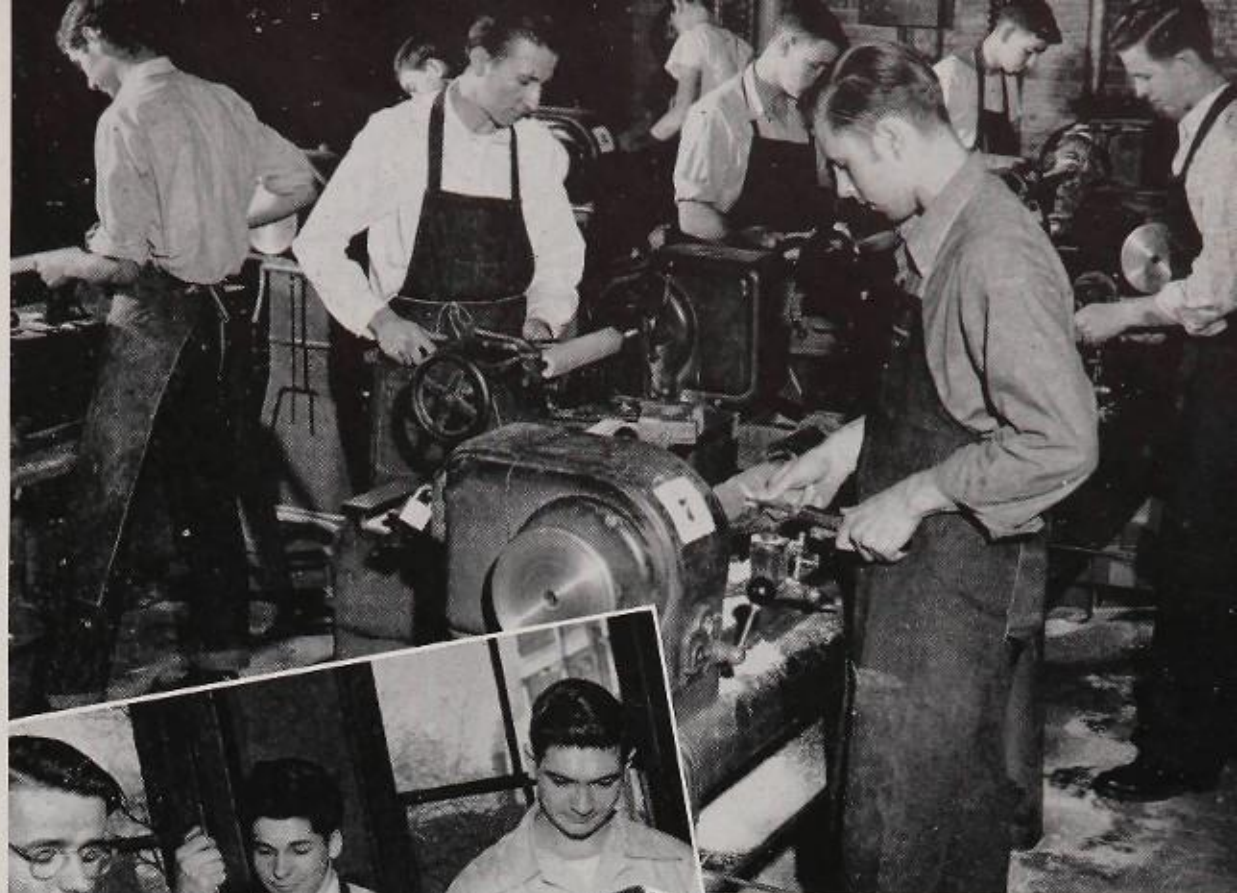

Woodturning—the order of the day here — is essential for these advanced students in patternmaking, and skill with the chisel is a prerequisite.

Shop 260's contribution to the Homecoming parade was a jet plane. Jerry Bystra, Curtis Joers, and Dan Obremski are shown putting some of the finishing touches on their masterpiece.

Exploratory students Jerry Braatz, Fred Szymanowski, and Al Sommers make a layout of a bracket pattern as a project in Mr. Kneisler's class.

Operating a power router, part of the precision work of a patternmaker, John Schulz practices safety first and illustrates concentration.

George Kowalski—commonly known as Kowal the Great, Tech's master magician—checks his completed punch-press pattern closely for accuracy.

Electricians

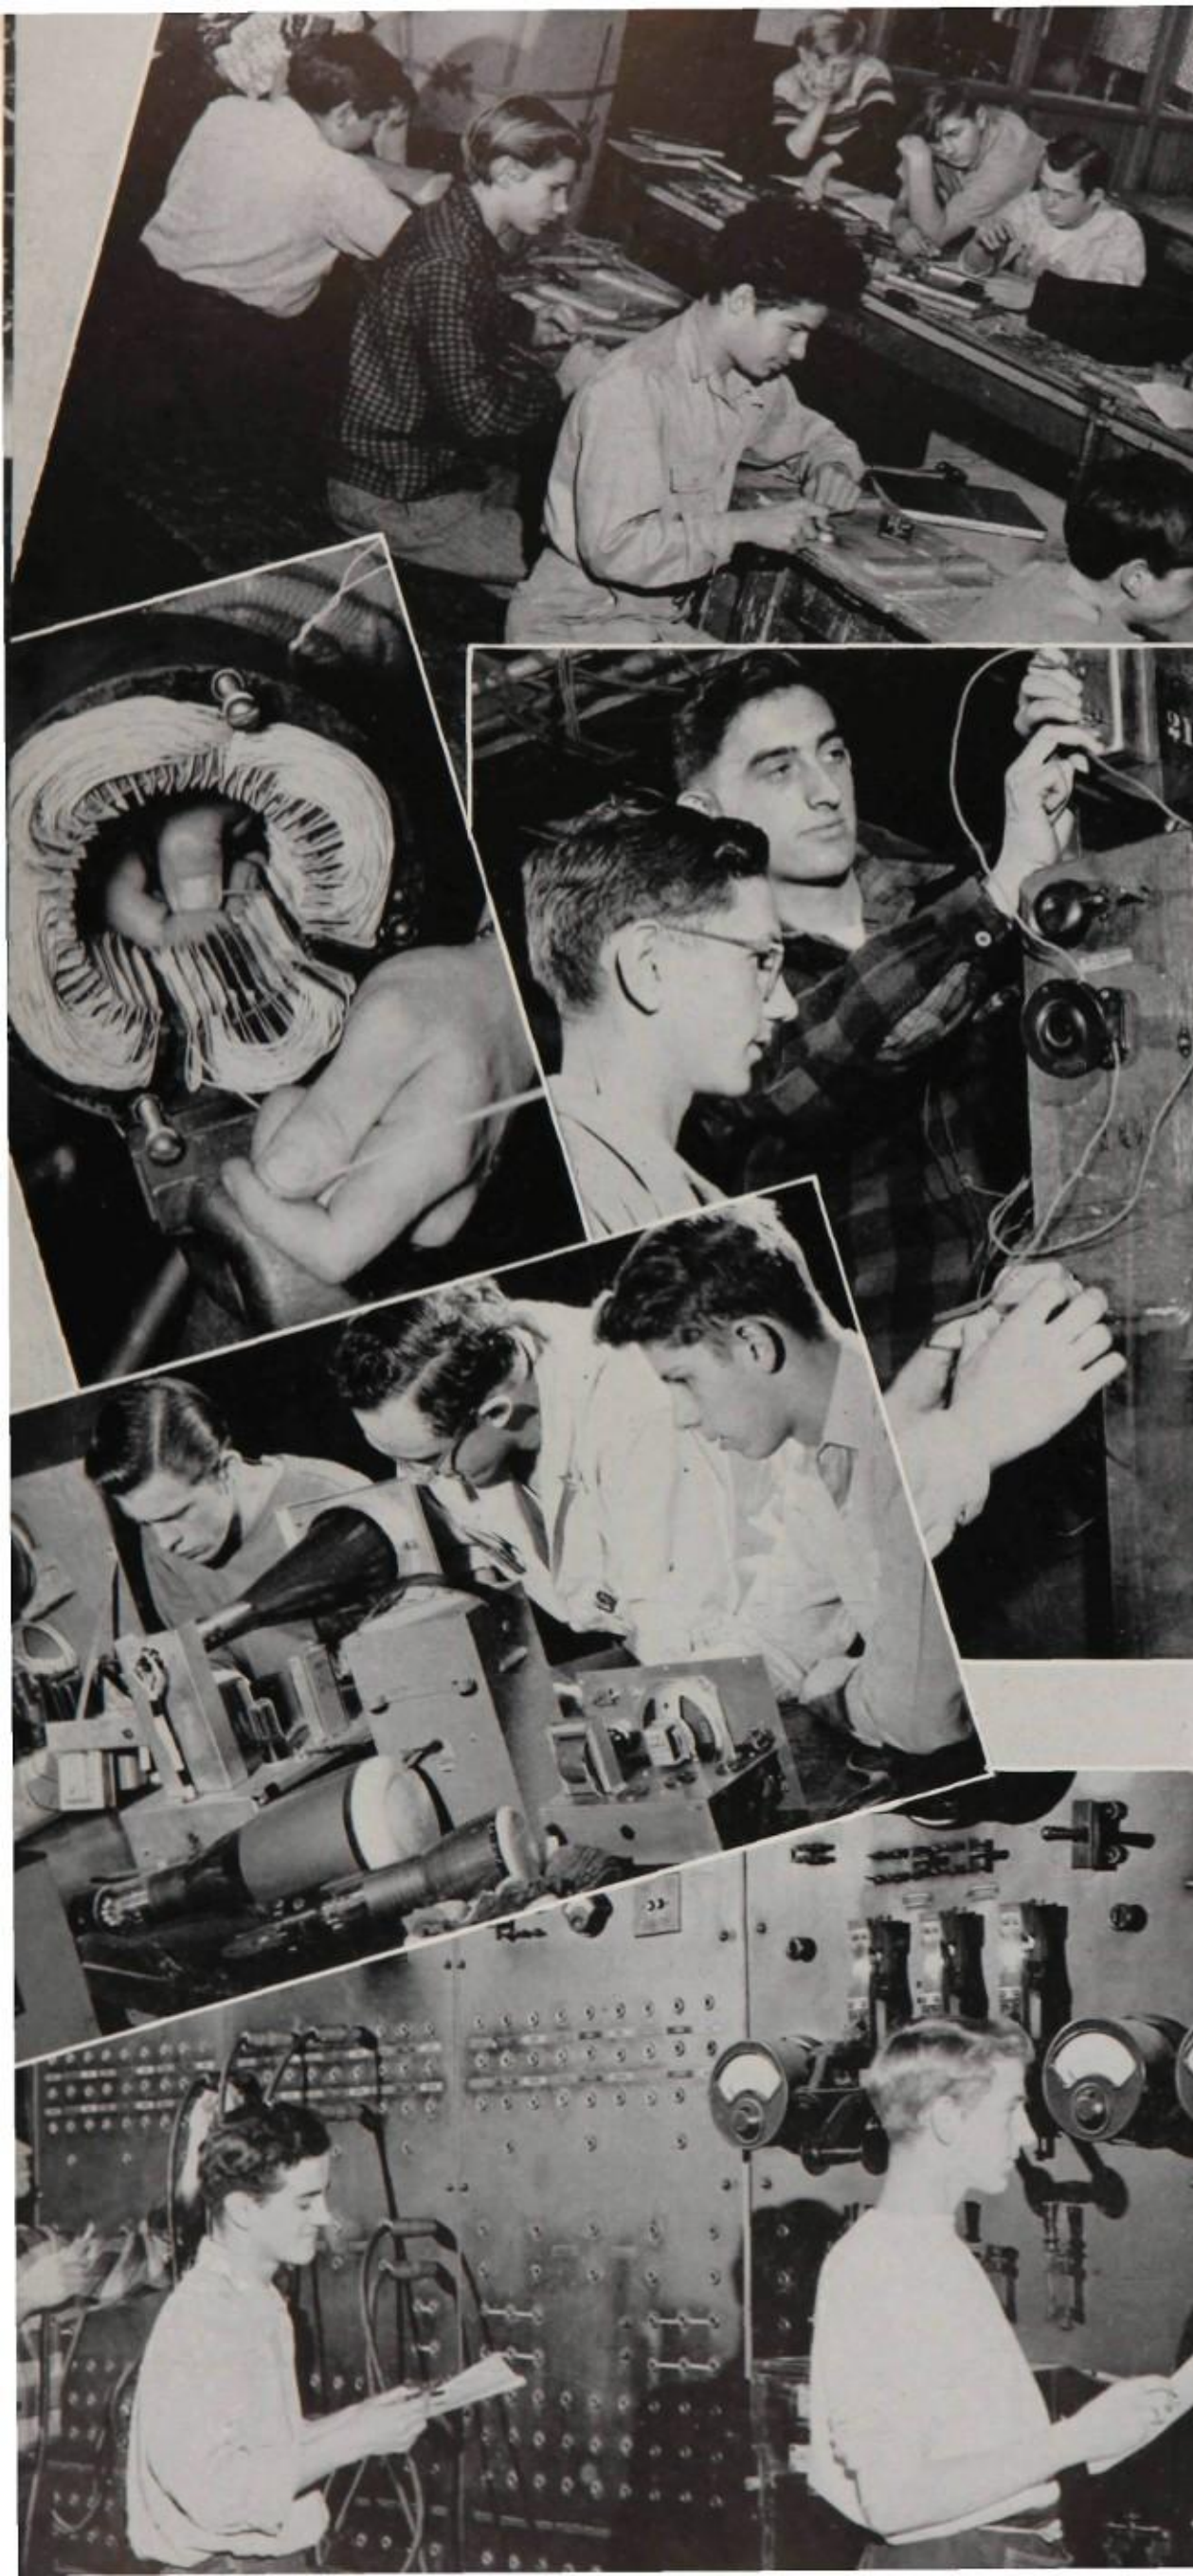

Exploratory Freshies work in earnest, so they told us, at an exercise at push button and buzzer boards, one of the fundamentals in Electric Shop.

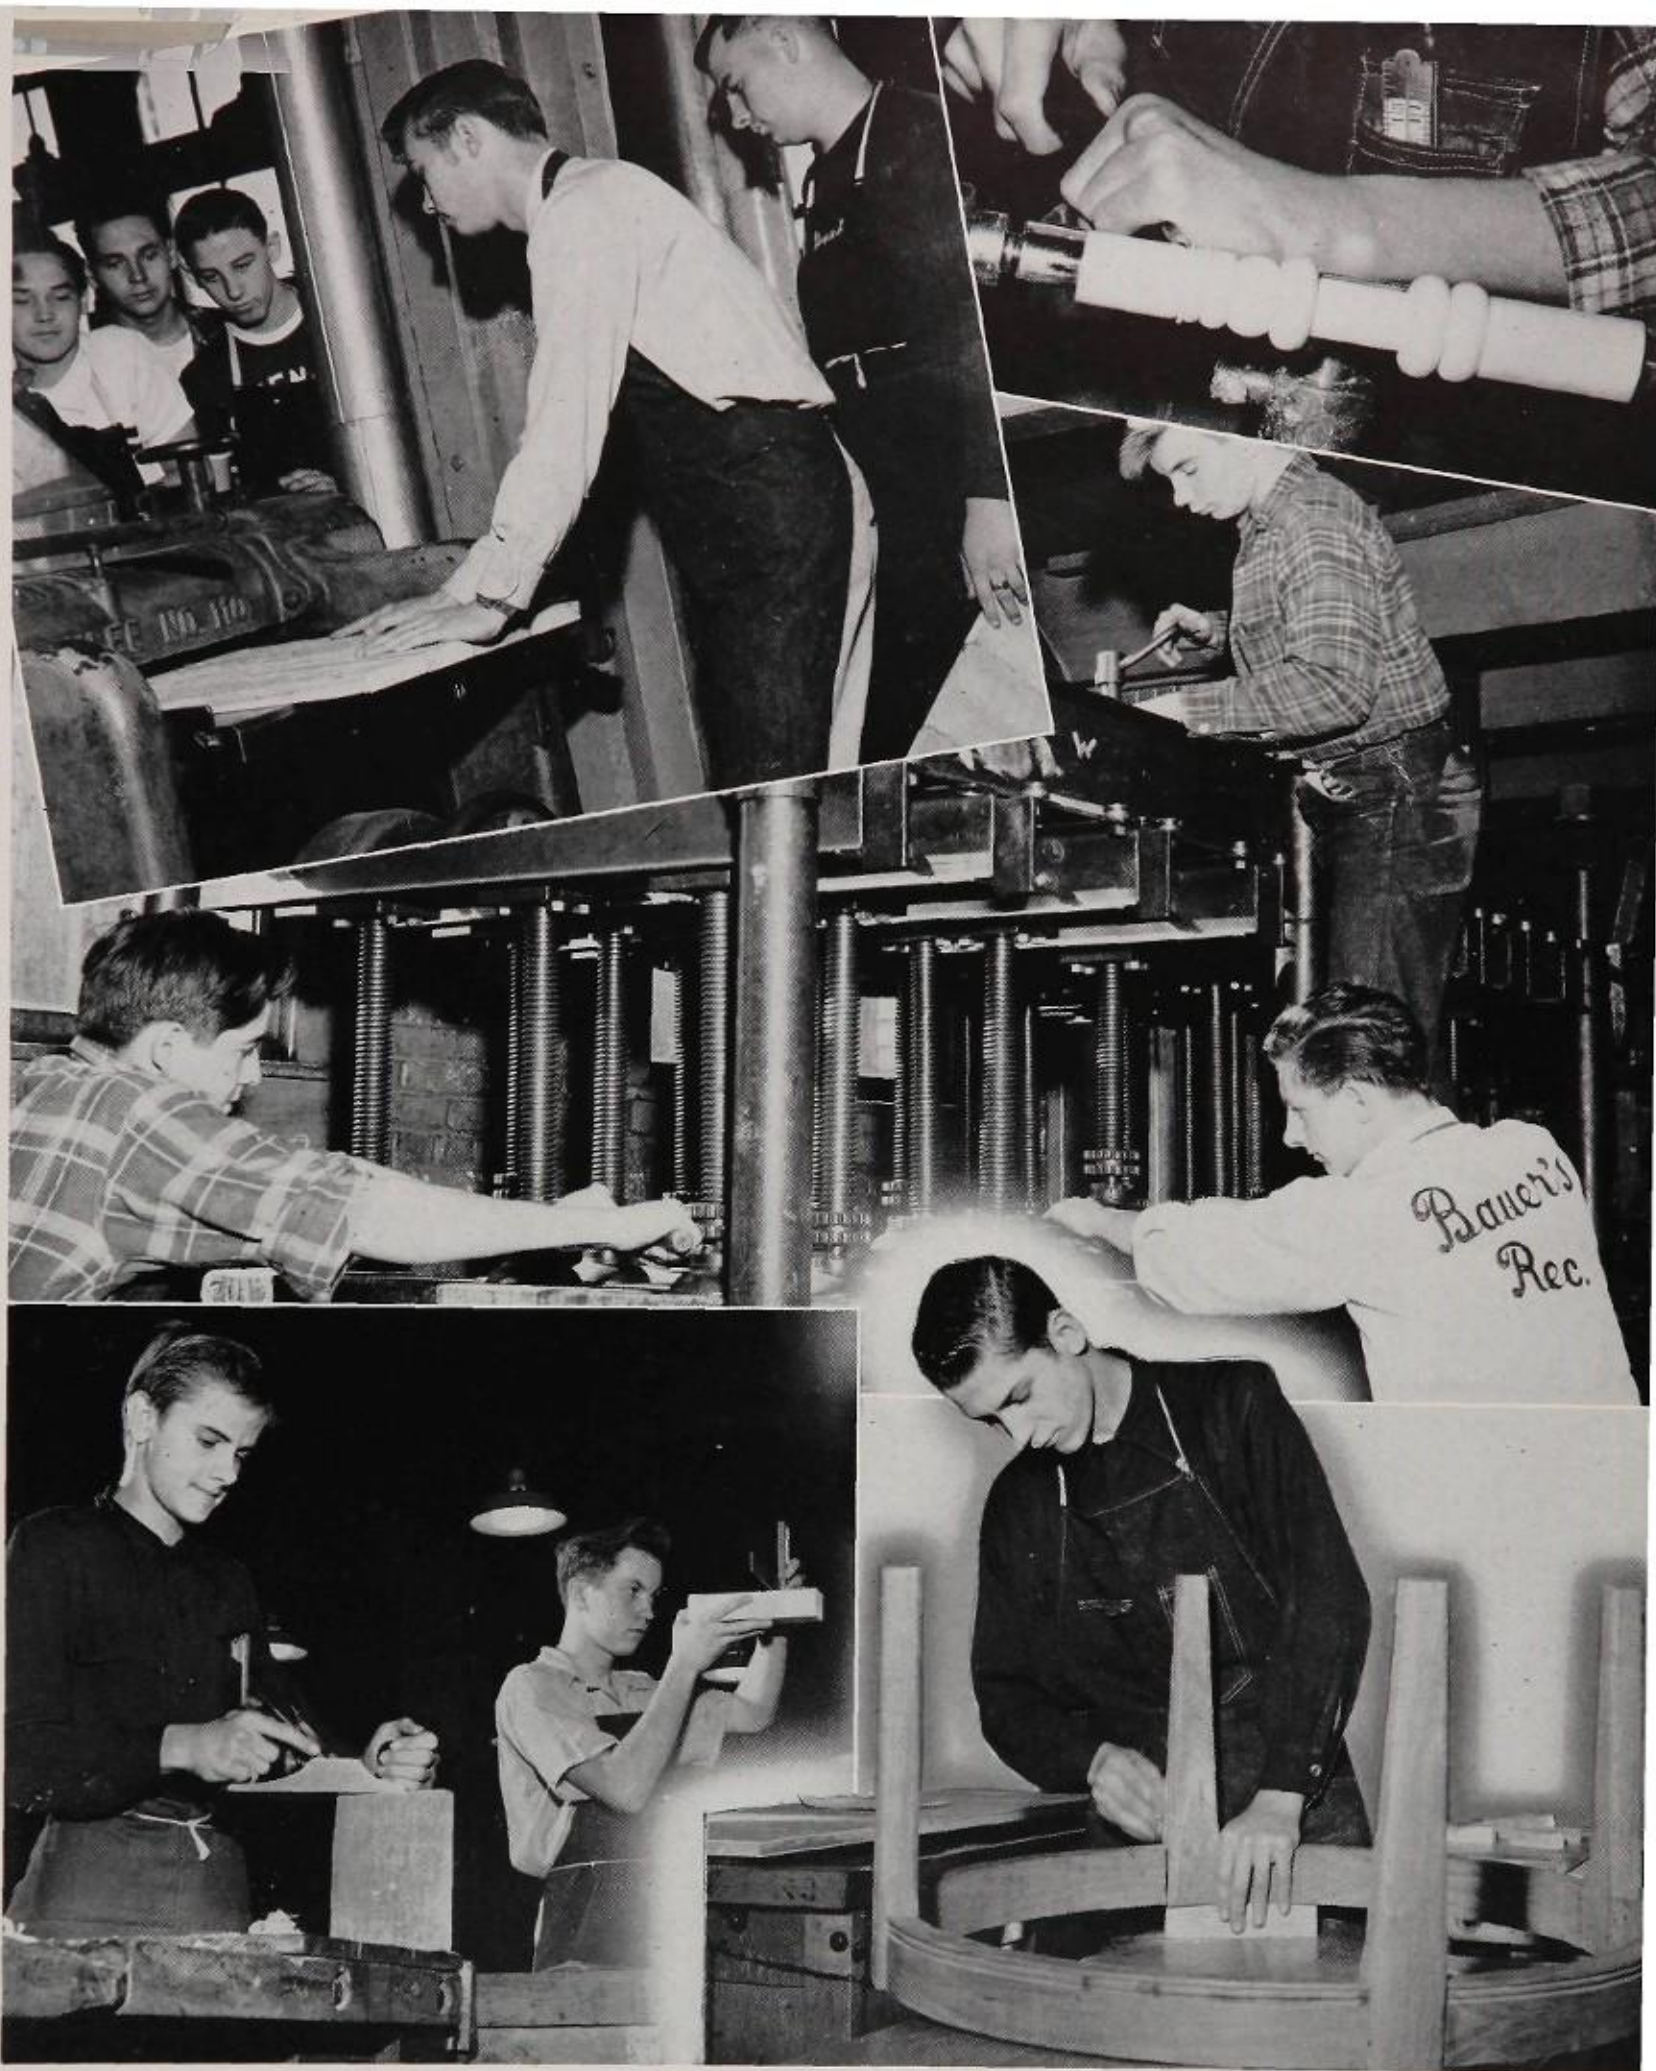

The skilled hands of John Zvara, a Tech Senior, are shown here winding a field coil for an AC motor, in the class in armature winding.

In what they hope is the finishing touch on the job, Leo Cigale makes telephone line connections, while Howard Kolisch awaits the results of their labors.

Electronics is no deep mystery to these boys. Ray Knapp, Bob Koeslin, and Jim Theissen construct an oscilloscope and equipment related to it.

"Power Plus" might be the caption of this photo of the switch board in the Electric Shop, at which Dick Shadd, Bob Franszczak, and Ron Zepnick take readings.

Trojan Woodworkers Work Wonders

The technique of planing a drawing board is demonstrated by Tom Fintak to Wayne Hoppe, Wayne Kaiser, and Greg Dufek, as Berwin Durow awaits his turn.

The hands illustrating good form in woodturning in a lathe exercise are those of Dan Dudley, a Tech Freshman.

Applying the veneer to a table, Gordon Hobler, Jerry Pregowski, and Eugene Bocek tighten the clamps on the large and powerful veneer press.

Planing and squaring exercises are part of the requirements of beginning students, and here Bob Beitzel and Harvey Koebnick are the conscientious students.

Sanding his occasional table is fast and fascinating work, according to Bob Pabich, who is shown in action in Shop 300.

Auto Shop Boys Get Dirty Hands

Tired arms and an aching back may be the result of Jack Eggleston's efforts at installing and connecting a radio in a late model Buick (upper right).

Hitting on all cylinders are Bill Cadwell, Dave Domagalski, John Peterson, Albert Olech, and this old Buick (right center) as the boys make a few final adjustments.

A complete physical check-up is given this car by Eugene Wagner, Leonard Zaniewski, and Harlow Schroeder who analyze the motor with the Sun motor tester.

Aeromechanics

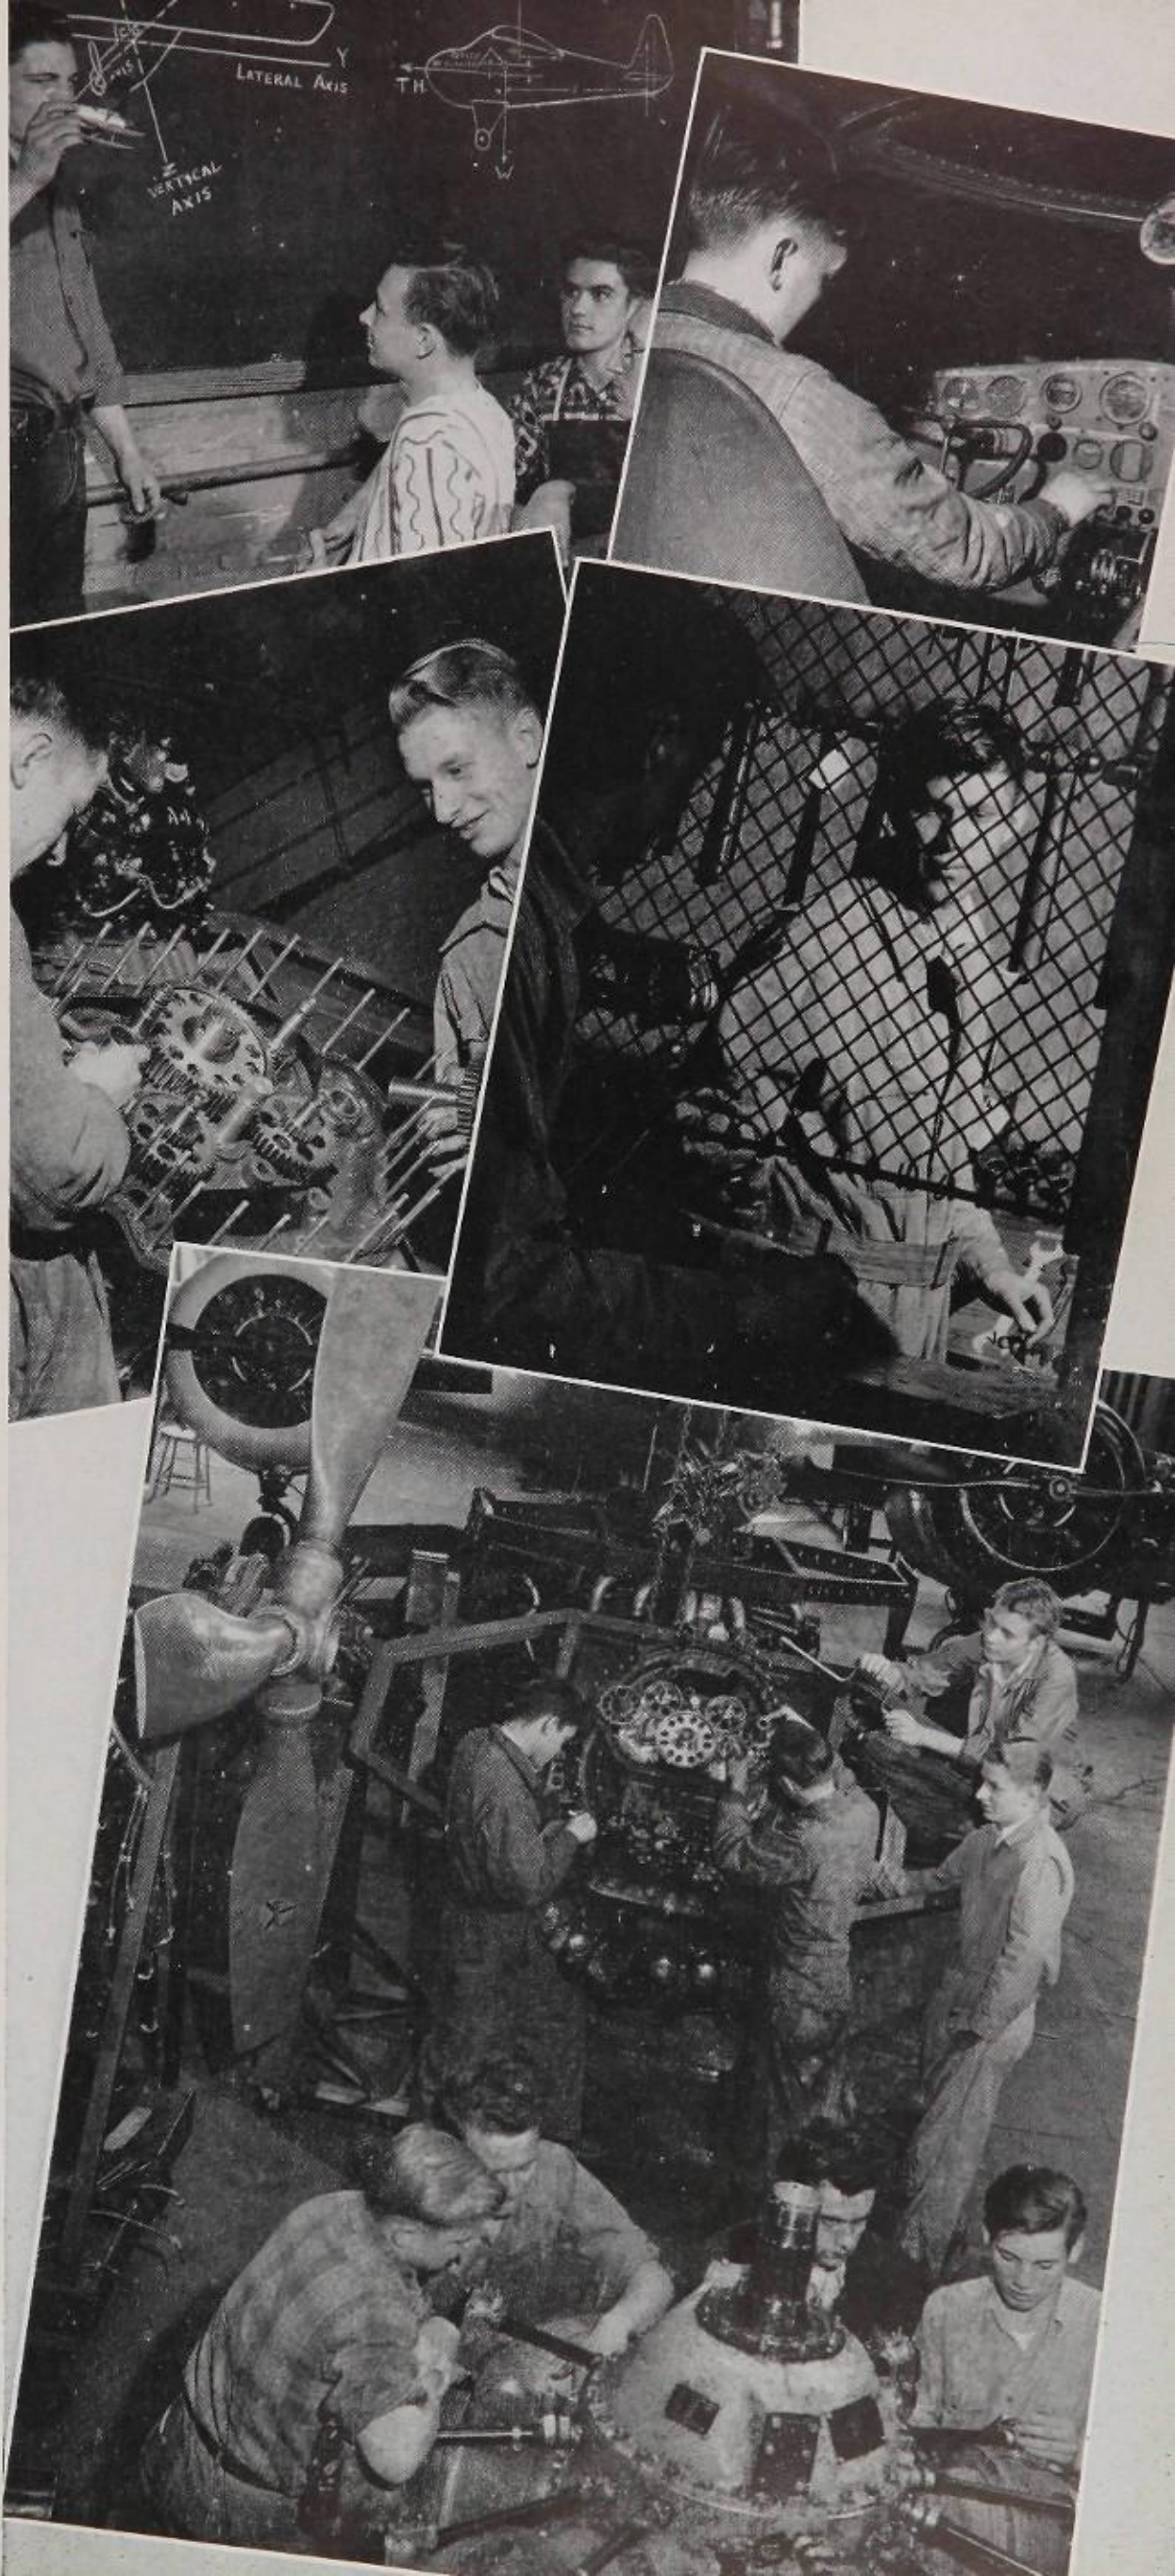

Flight theory is illustrated as Laurence Burger tells what factors oppose flight, while Joel Tucek, George Astemborski, and others watch the demonstration.

Don Zirbel and Jerry Kennedy develop keen memories as they remove the supercharger drive gears from a 2000 h.p. airplane engine.

Stockroom boy Al Kowalski exchanges a wrench for a toolroom order slip written by Joe Davis, illustrating the systematic check on tools practiced by all Tech's shops.

Architects

For ideas of their own, Duane Biedendbender, Dave Lehman, Roger Poehlman, and Ron McLafferty study a model section of a shingle roof. Our architects have to know more about building than just how to draw the plans.

Long arms help Gerald Hoefer and Ray Malek, two of the department's graduating Seniors, as they collaborate in arranging a display of student drawings and plans, showing the scope and quality of the work of the Tech architects.

Harvey Borkowski, Wayne Wagner, and John Guse are shown looking over the house plans drawn by Wagner, a new student who entered this year from one of our junior high schools.

Perspectives and renderings of details are also an important part of the training of an architect. Here Laurence Renaud puts the finishing touches on a charcoal rendering of a formal entrance, while George Gloff observes the work.

Artists, Without Models, Show Skills

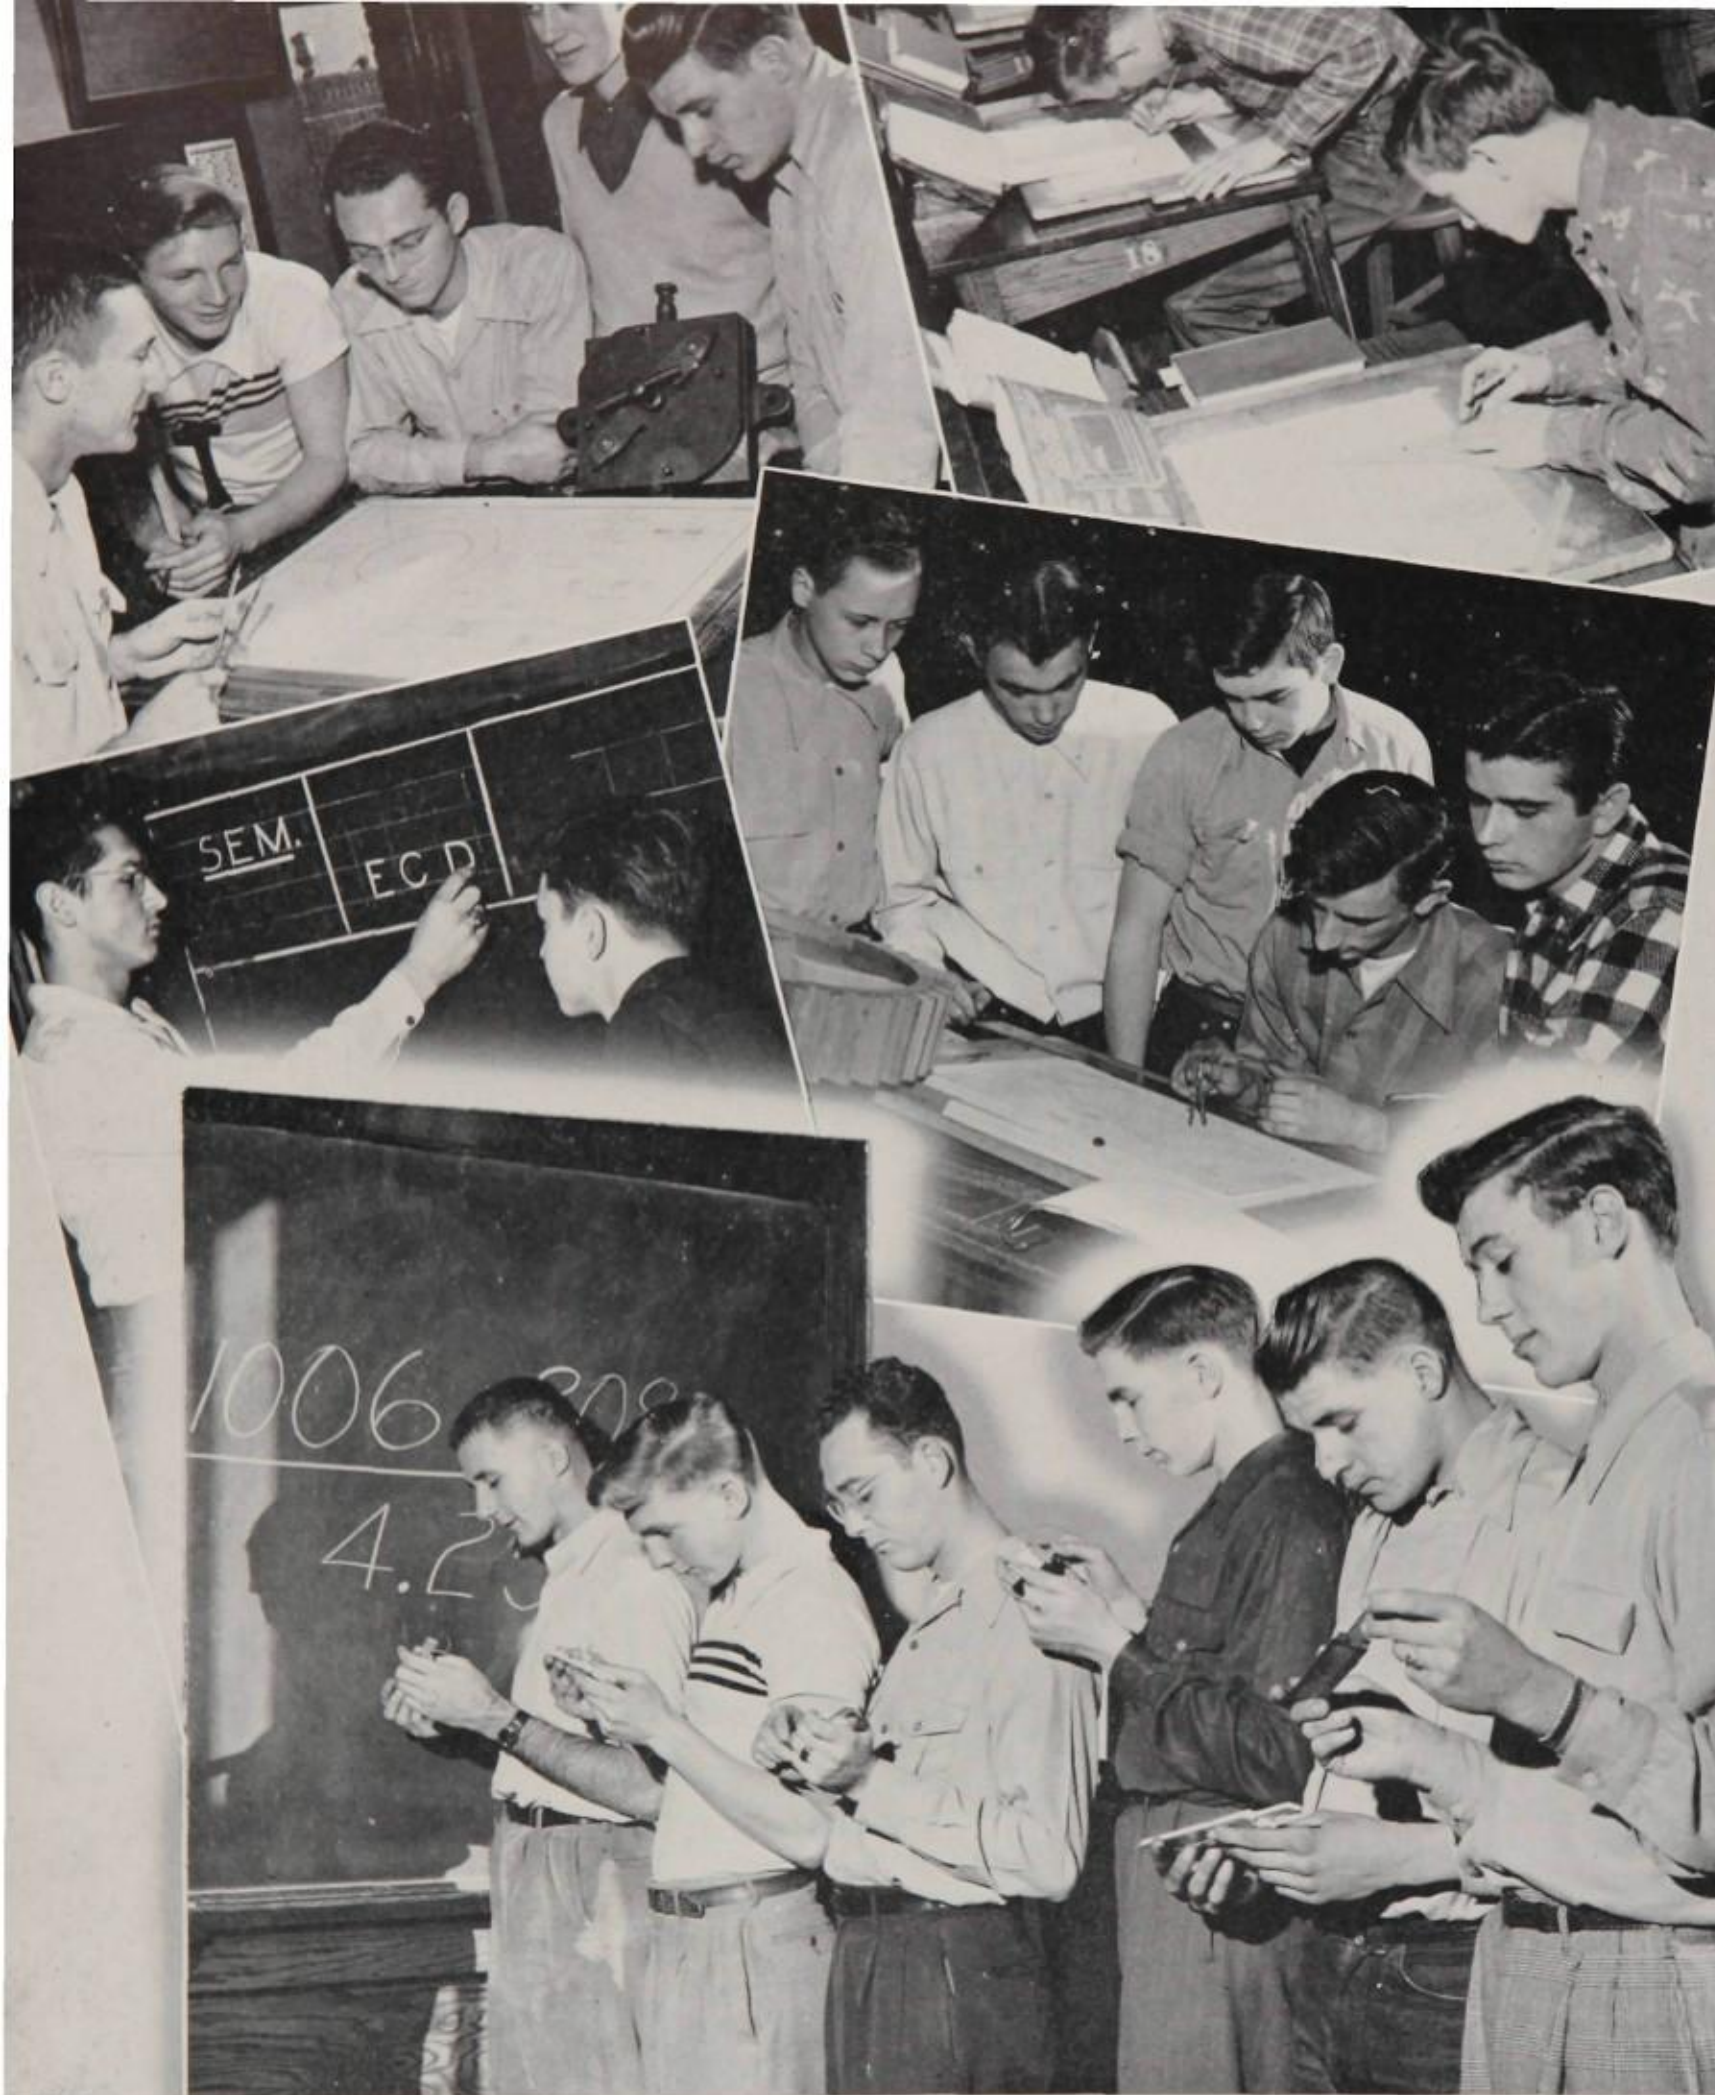

The air brush is an artist's best friend, as Bob Wargolet (upper left) uses that technique to bring out the canine qualities of "man's best friend."

Soft jobs in art are illustrated by Hilbert Rottler who busies himself with ceramic sculpturing (right center), while Dick Hanson works material used in pottery making.

In poster painting, Arden Krahn looks over his gridiron star, and Jim Kaiser seems to be hypnotized by his own creation (lower).

Many Trojans Are Caught in the Draft

Glenn Groth, Harry Brzeski, Don Kopschar, Jerry LaLonde, and Bob Anderson (upper left) look at a milling machine fixture Groth has just designed.

Ray Mundt and Bob Leu, also beginning students, practice lettering, vertical style, to improve their skill in a drafting fundamental (left center).

The "slip stick" boys, Glenn Groth, Harry Brzeski, Don Kopschar, Bob Raitz, Bob Anderson, and Jerry LaLonde practice solving problems quickly with slide rules.

Plumbers

The sanitation boys of Shop 100 learn the knack of bending and threading pipe at one of the main work benches.

The "smoothie" in this picture is none other than Erv Mirr, one of the "modest" boys of the Plumbing Shop, who wipes a solder joint he has just formed.

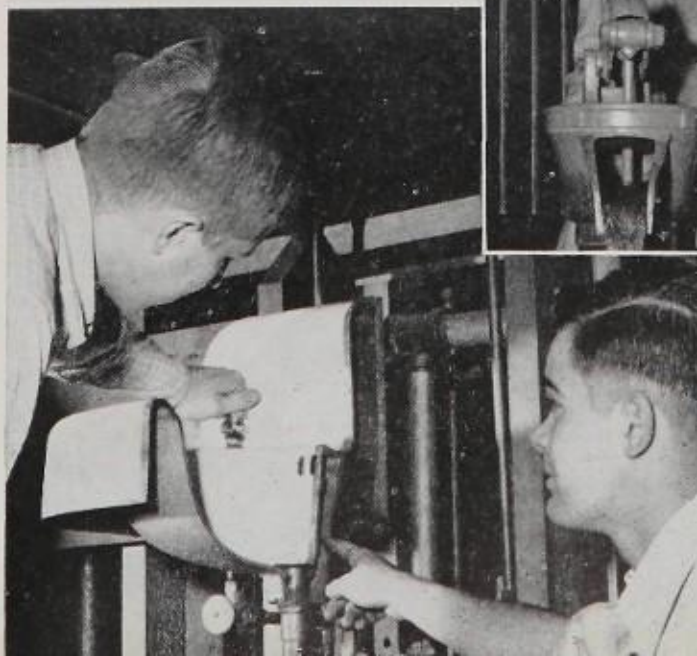

Exploratory students Bob Gregor and George Bindas take and record measurements for a beginning project.

"Fill 'er up, Mac," seems to be the idea here as Mike Glapinski and Dale Halliburton check the action of transparent pumps in motion.

Printers

Joe Gaspar and Harvey Semler are doing an interesting and intricate job as they get the ruling machine ready for a run.

The proof of the composition is the "proof," and here John Rosplock pulls a proof of a job he has previously set on the linotype.

Beating out the rhythm of the platens is Al Czysh, a January graduate, while he runs a production job on one of the hand-fed platen presses.

The boys with the inky elbows are Duane O'Leary and Erwin Goertz who lock up a form for The Craftsman, Boys' Tech's school paper, which is run in our Print Shop.

Hand composition is one of the fundamentals of the Print Shop, and that's the detailed chore of these beginning boys in Room 210, who also have to know their spelling.

Tech Chemists Make Vial Concoctions

Volumes and viscosities are illustrated by Bob Callies and Jay Saueressig (upper right) who are analyzing an unknown in quantitative analysis.

Easy does it! The steady hands pictured here are those of Mike Alberte, who adds a base to one of the many solutions he has combined.

The "Big Four" of the advanced chemists are Bob Skiera, John Srok, Dick Berg, and Glen Carlisle, three of whom follow Berg's instructions in filtering an unknown. They've got a lovely bunch of beakers, a standin' in a row. In fact, they're beakers, graduates, flasks, and funnels arranged in order of size.

Junior Scientists Are on the Make

"Physicists" Bob Patky, Rudy Pletz, Frank Nunemaker, and Leonard Kubiak (upper left) check the acceleration of a falling body.

Biologists Henry Kringle, Mike Okus, Rudy Peters, and George Holland compare beans and corn in relation to their study of stems and plants (upper right).

"Dry Bones!" Dick Hoffman and Ed Kraus make no bones about this task as they demonstrate the principal parts of Room 350's class skeleton.

Using coils and condensers, Bill Hass, Rudy Hoffman, and Dale Halliburton demonstrate a short-wave oscillator and receiver (lower center).

Students in 9B Science learn some of the rudiments of experimentation by heating a liquid with a Bunsen burner.

Mathematicians

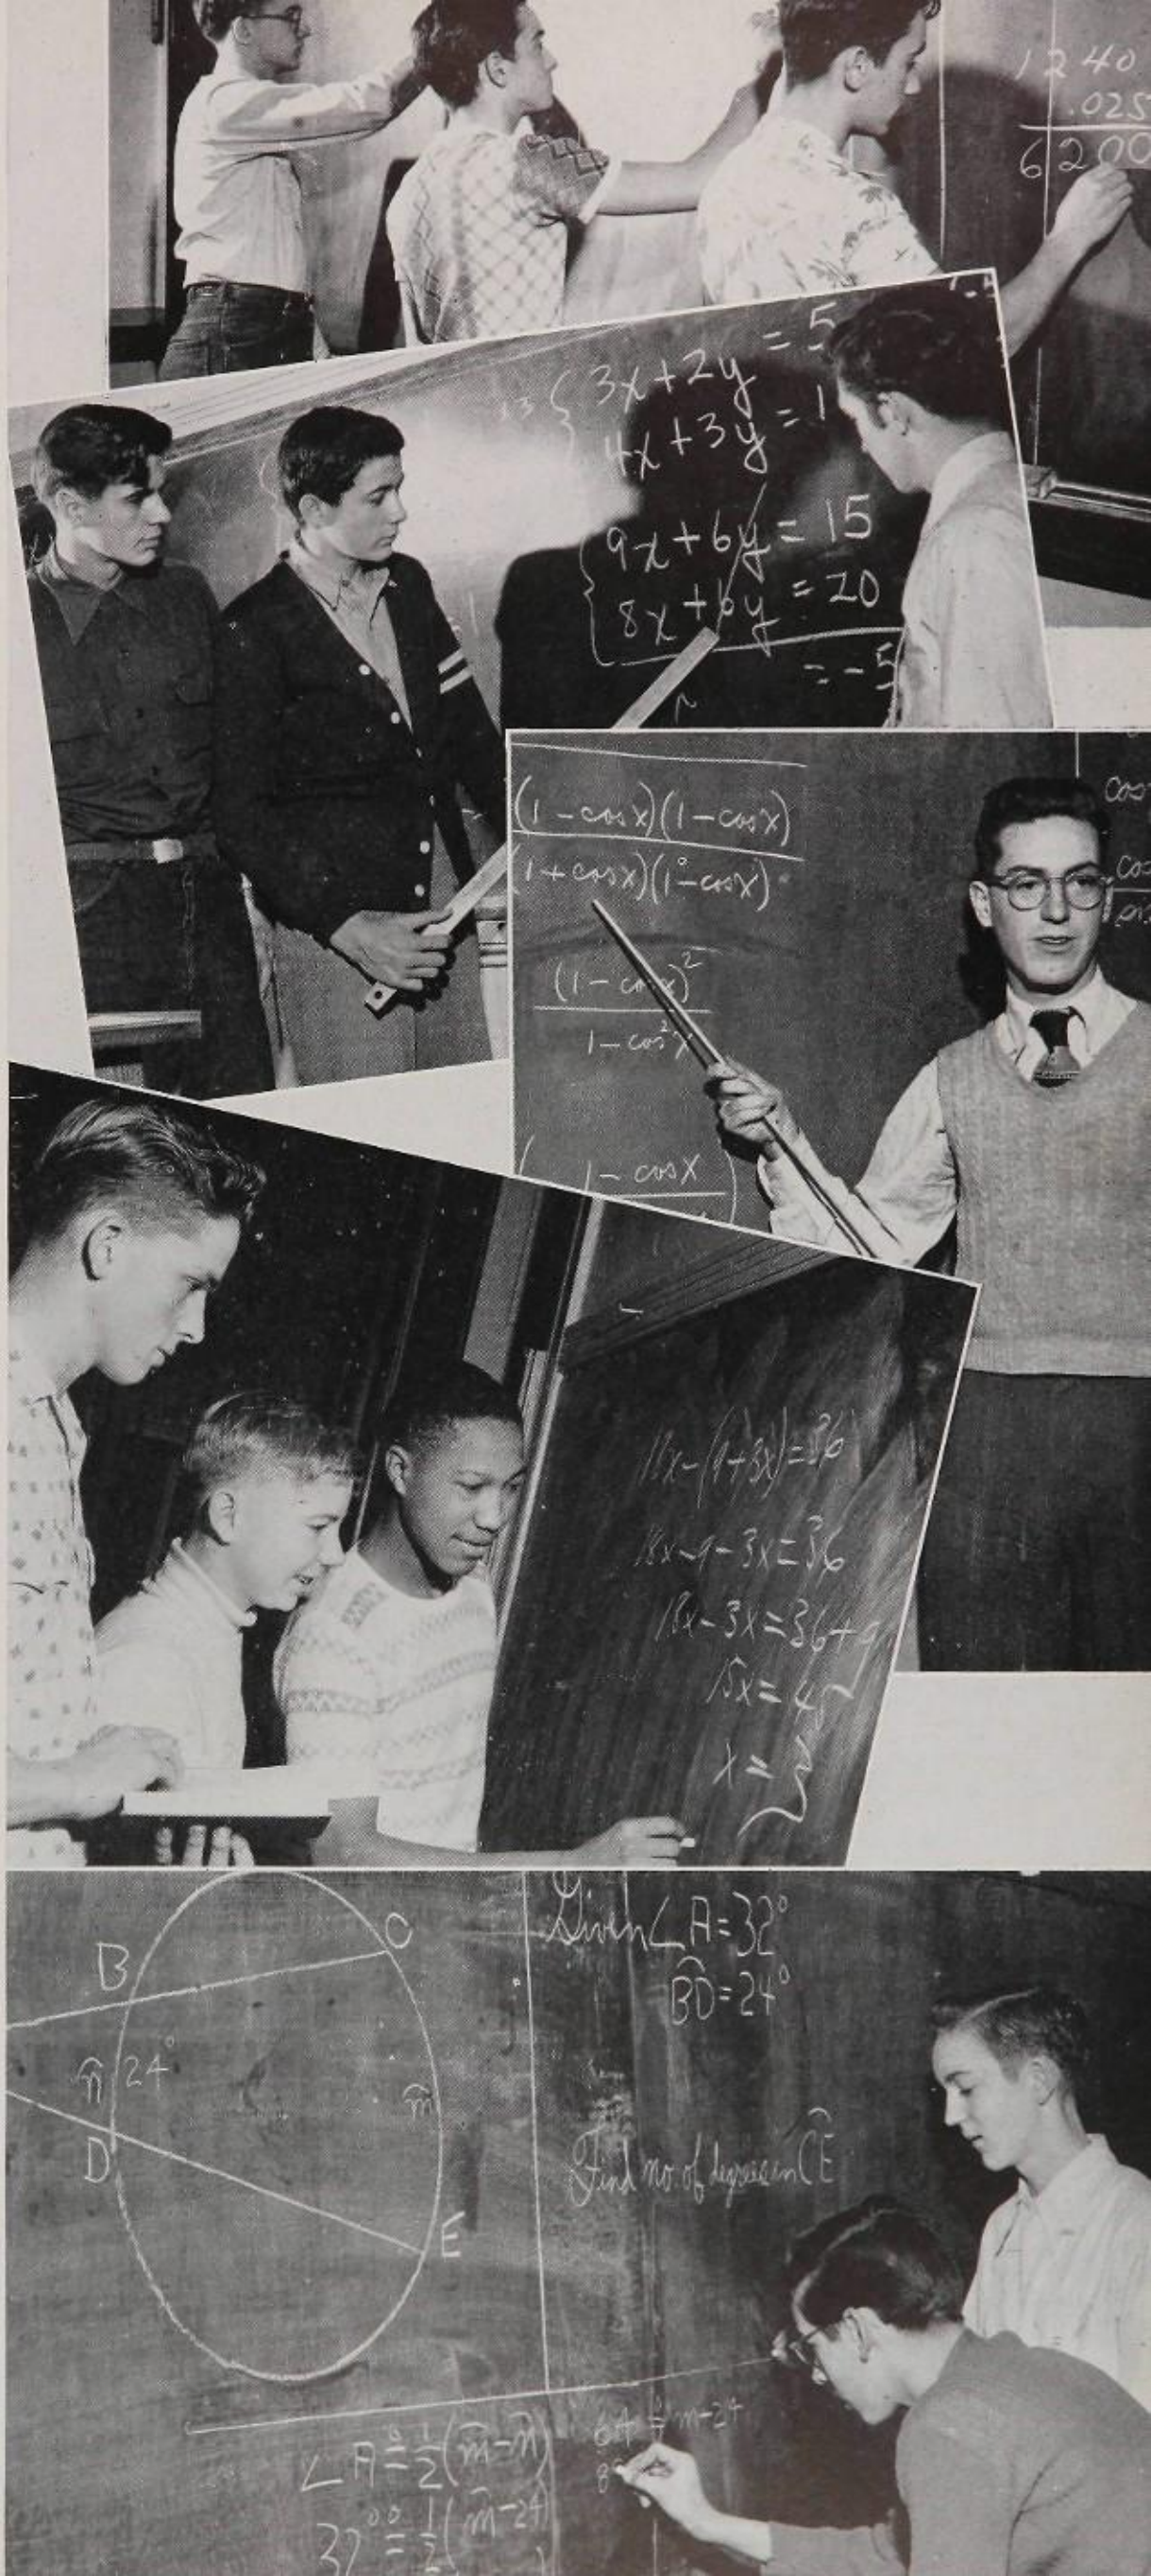

10B Math students, Eugene Rakowski, James Richter, and Bob Heiden, work on a social security problem.

Mike McClune, Dick Schaezner, and Gene Fuhrman solve for x in the addition of simultaneous equations.

At the head of the class is our own Dick Powell, who explains an equality to his fellow-Seniors in the Trigonometry class.

More of that mysterious x , as Ken Brant, Kent Bischoff, and Moses Crumble arrive at a value for the unknown in an equation with one unknown.

In Geometry, Doug Rogers and Leon Roloff find the number of degrees in an arc formed by an angle with its vertex outside the circle.

Historians

A thirst for knowledge of our country's great past—it says here—Leo Cigale, Dan Cembrowski, George Gruettner, and Dick Hellmica do some outside reading in United States History.

Frank Stanazek, Rudy Unger, and Bob Fraszczak follow through by checking the locale of the event on the wall map in another U.S. History class.

It's revolution — the French Revolution — that's the subject of the projects which are being appraised by Roger Rayome, Fred Meier, and Charles Flaum.

Looking over charts of foreign trade and sources of money supply, John Peterson, Charles Koktavy, Don Dahms, and Dick La Bode bring their study of Economics right up to date.

As a matter of custom, George Gates, Bob Grohall, Karl Kaupp, and Don Henninger study a chart for Civics, illustrating some of our English heritages, including Magna Carta and the common law.

No Need for Third-Man Themes Here

John Bach and Jim Groeger show keen interest in the style of Don Hoover in the short theme he is writing for an 11A English class (upper left).

The literature boys, Joe Andreas, Howard Goetzman, and John Schneider, look at pictures portraying ruthlessness in Macbeth and kindness in The Cotter's Saturday Night (right center).

A lively example of oral expression in a 10A English class is given here when Bill Utech's report on a magazine article calls forth a question or a comment by Joe Albright.

Techites Have Other Interests, Too

In music appreciation, Lawrence Kallas, Joe Brezzel, George Goeltz, and Gil Rottler compare notes—and we do mean compare notes—on the theme of Tschaiikowsky's Sixth Symphony, the Pathetique (upper right).

"And music, music, music." But it's in the Harmony class, where Dick Loehndorf, Joe Dentice, Stanley Sterle, Pete Lovinas, Art Posselt, John Straszewski, and Louis Scepanski follow Glenn Reiss's accompaniment on a popular number.

Gymnasts

It's bottoms up, as the Freshie swimmers practice the jelly-fish float and learn that it is one way to stay on top.

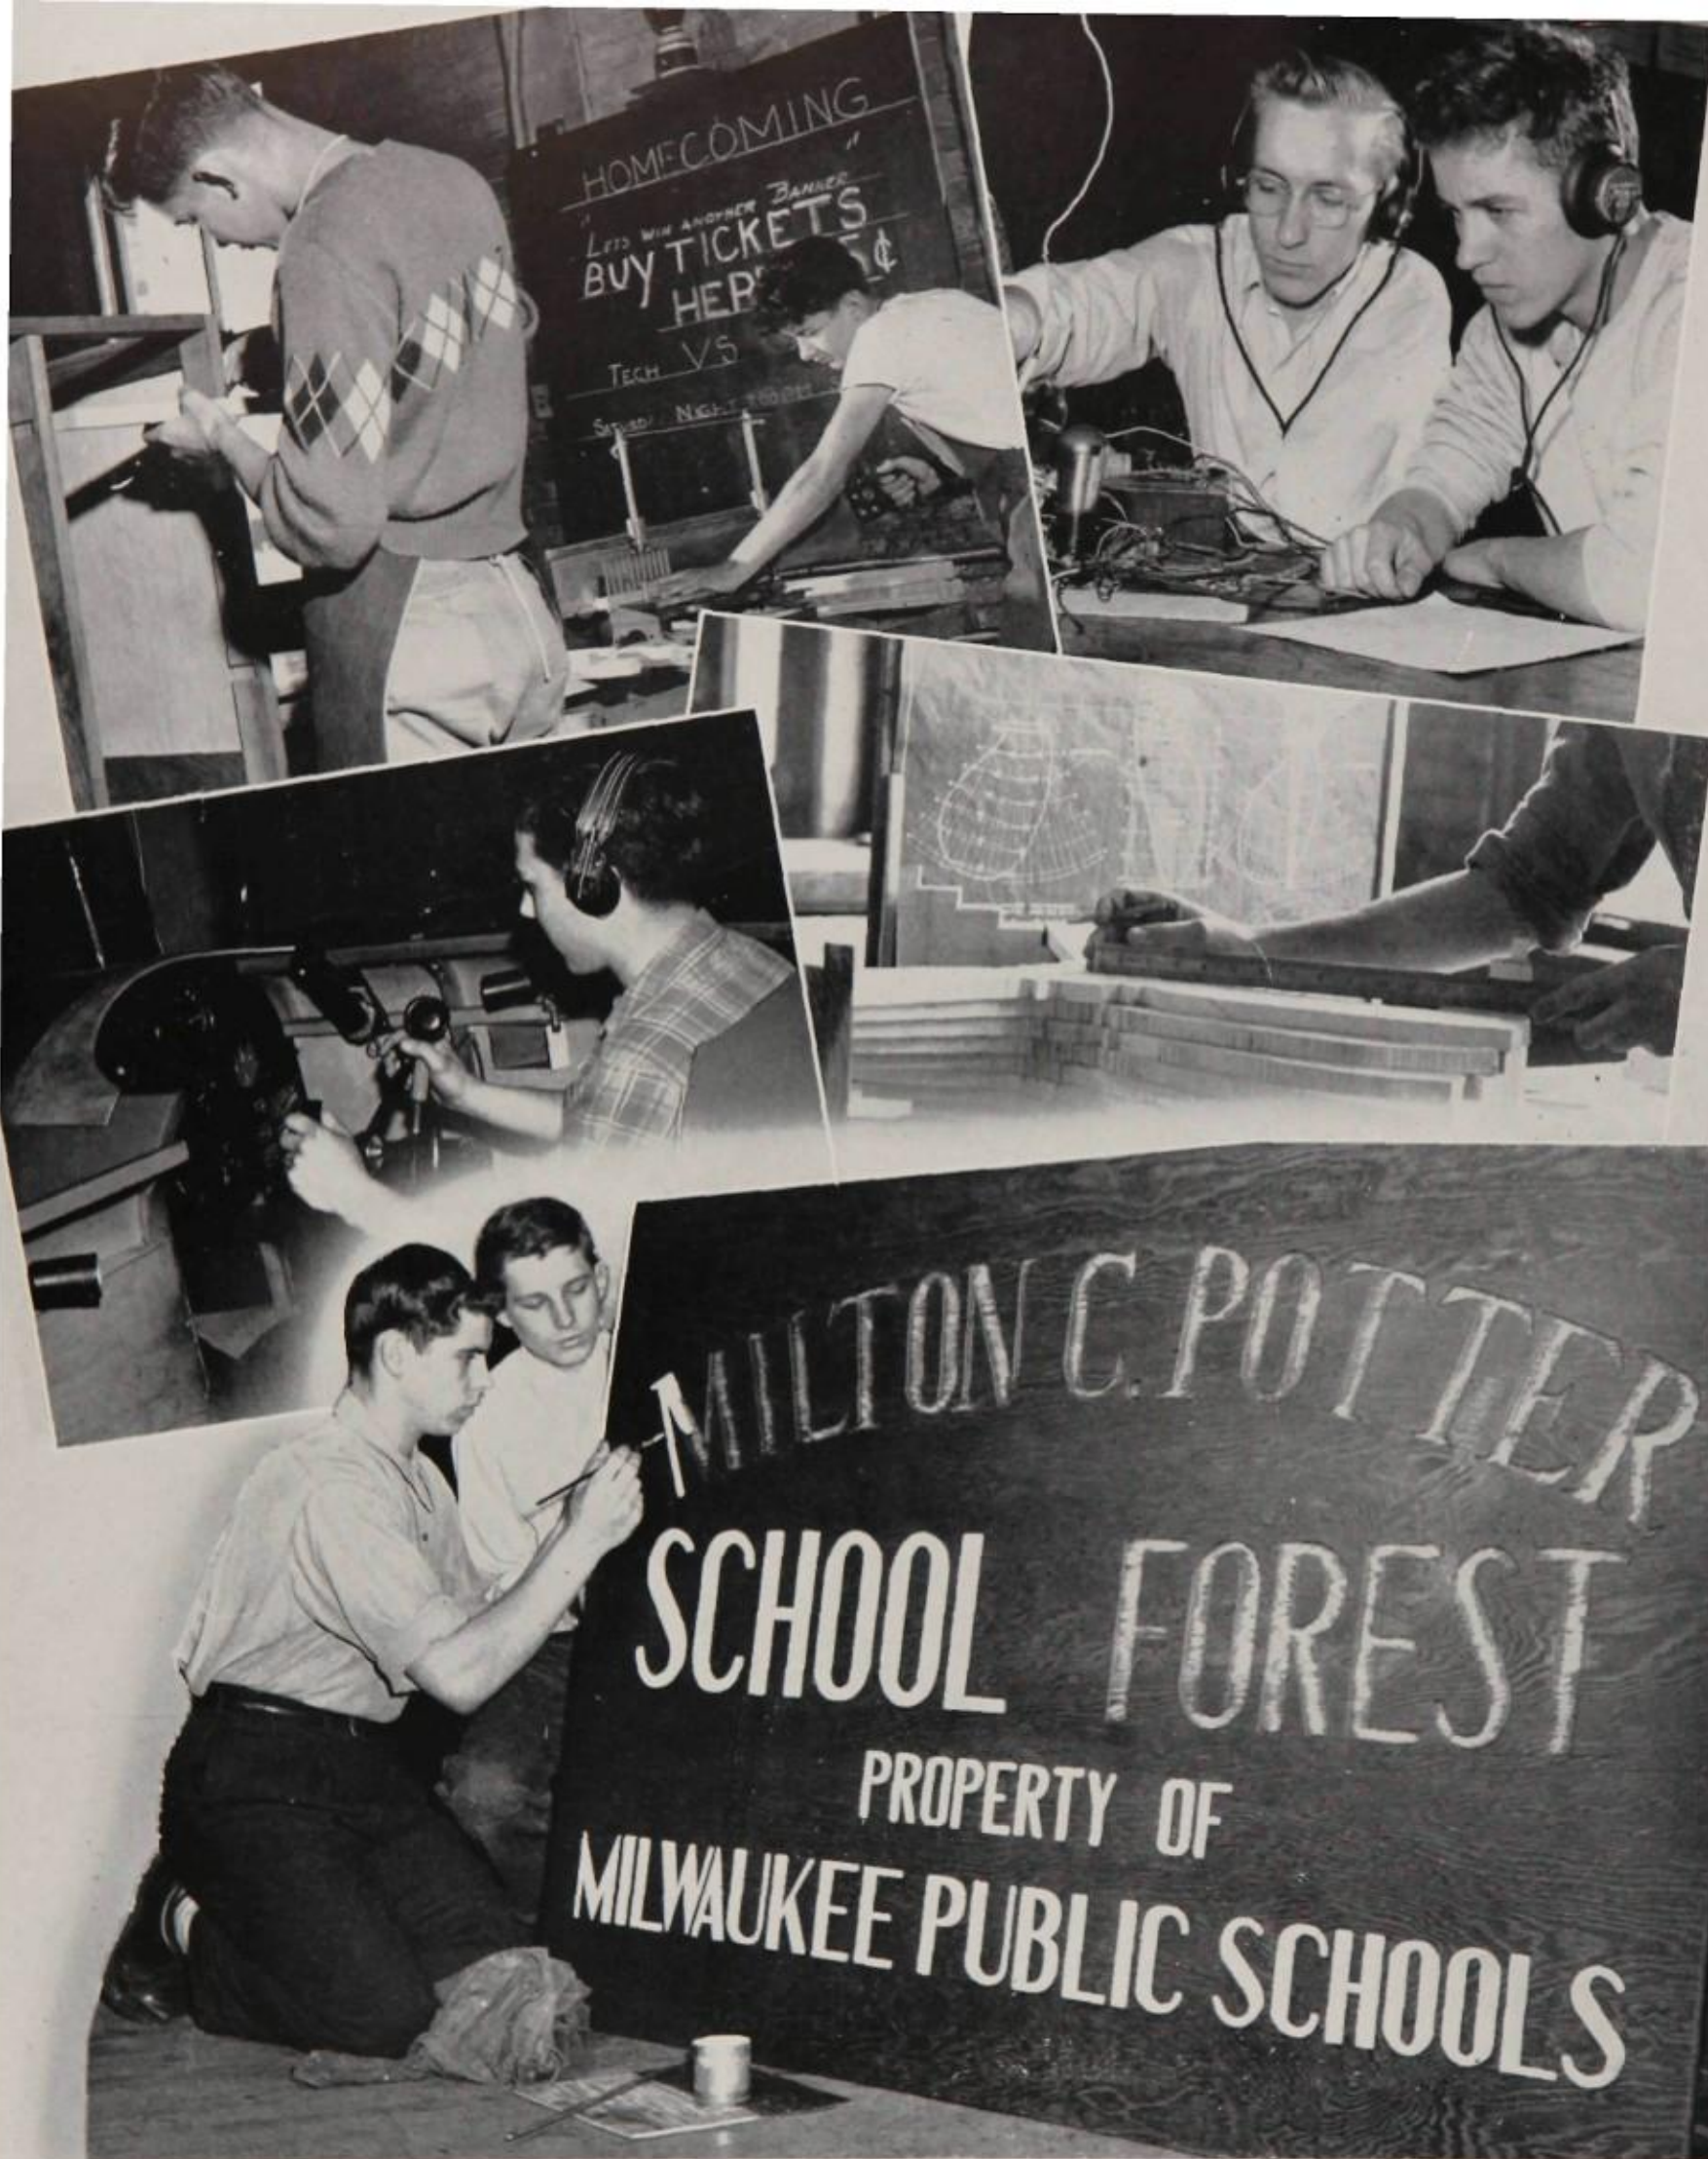

Some put it into practice in gym classes, but others just read about it in Health. Here Jesse Cardenas, Jerry Kube, Ron Goeltz, and John Jacobi find out that exercise is vital, but they say that it can be overdone.

"Hold it!" And they did, while our photographer caught one of Mr. Muth's gymnasts practicing a handspring over the "elephant," as it is known in athletic circles.

If this picture hadn't been cropped, it would give you a show of legs of these Freshie swimmers, who are taught that kicking is an essential part of learning to swim.

Line up for roll call, and "Coach" Richardson counts noses before deciding who's first to "spring" the "elephant." The boy in the street clothes? He had to go out for a portrait photograph that day.

Today's Techniques Foretell Future Skills

In Woodshop 300, John Schneider is fitting a brace into his desk, using a dado joint to secure the brace (upper left), and Marvin Pirollo is using a mitre box to bevel the edges of stock for a future cabinet.

Donald Gnader and Don Iwinski, in Woodshop 200, put the finishing touches on the sign constructed in the shop, which now marks the entrance to the Potter School Forest.

The Boys Demonstrate Tech Know-How

Open House at Tech always attracts large numbers of parents and friends from all parts of Milwaukee. The 1949 Open House was no exception. With the machines in the shops humming and the drawing classes and laboratories teeming with activity, the annual affair came up to the visitors' expectations. Moving from one shop or classroom to another, the people were amazed at the work accomplished by the boys of Tech, and were interested in the projects on display.

Students in Radio demonstrated some of the work done by advanced students in electricity (upper left), and the enlarger of the darkroom (center) attracted much attention. As usual the presses in the Print Shop were rolling, turning out copies of The Craftsman (upper right). The other pictures show visitors examining projects on display, or parents conferring with teachers.

BOYS
PLAYING

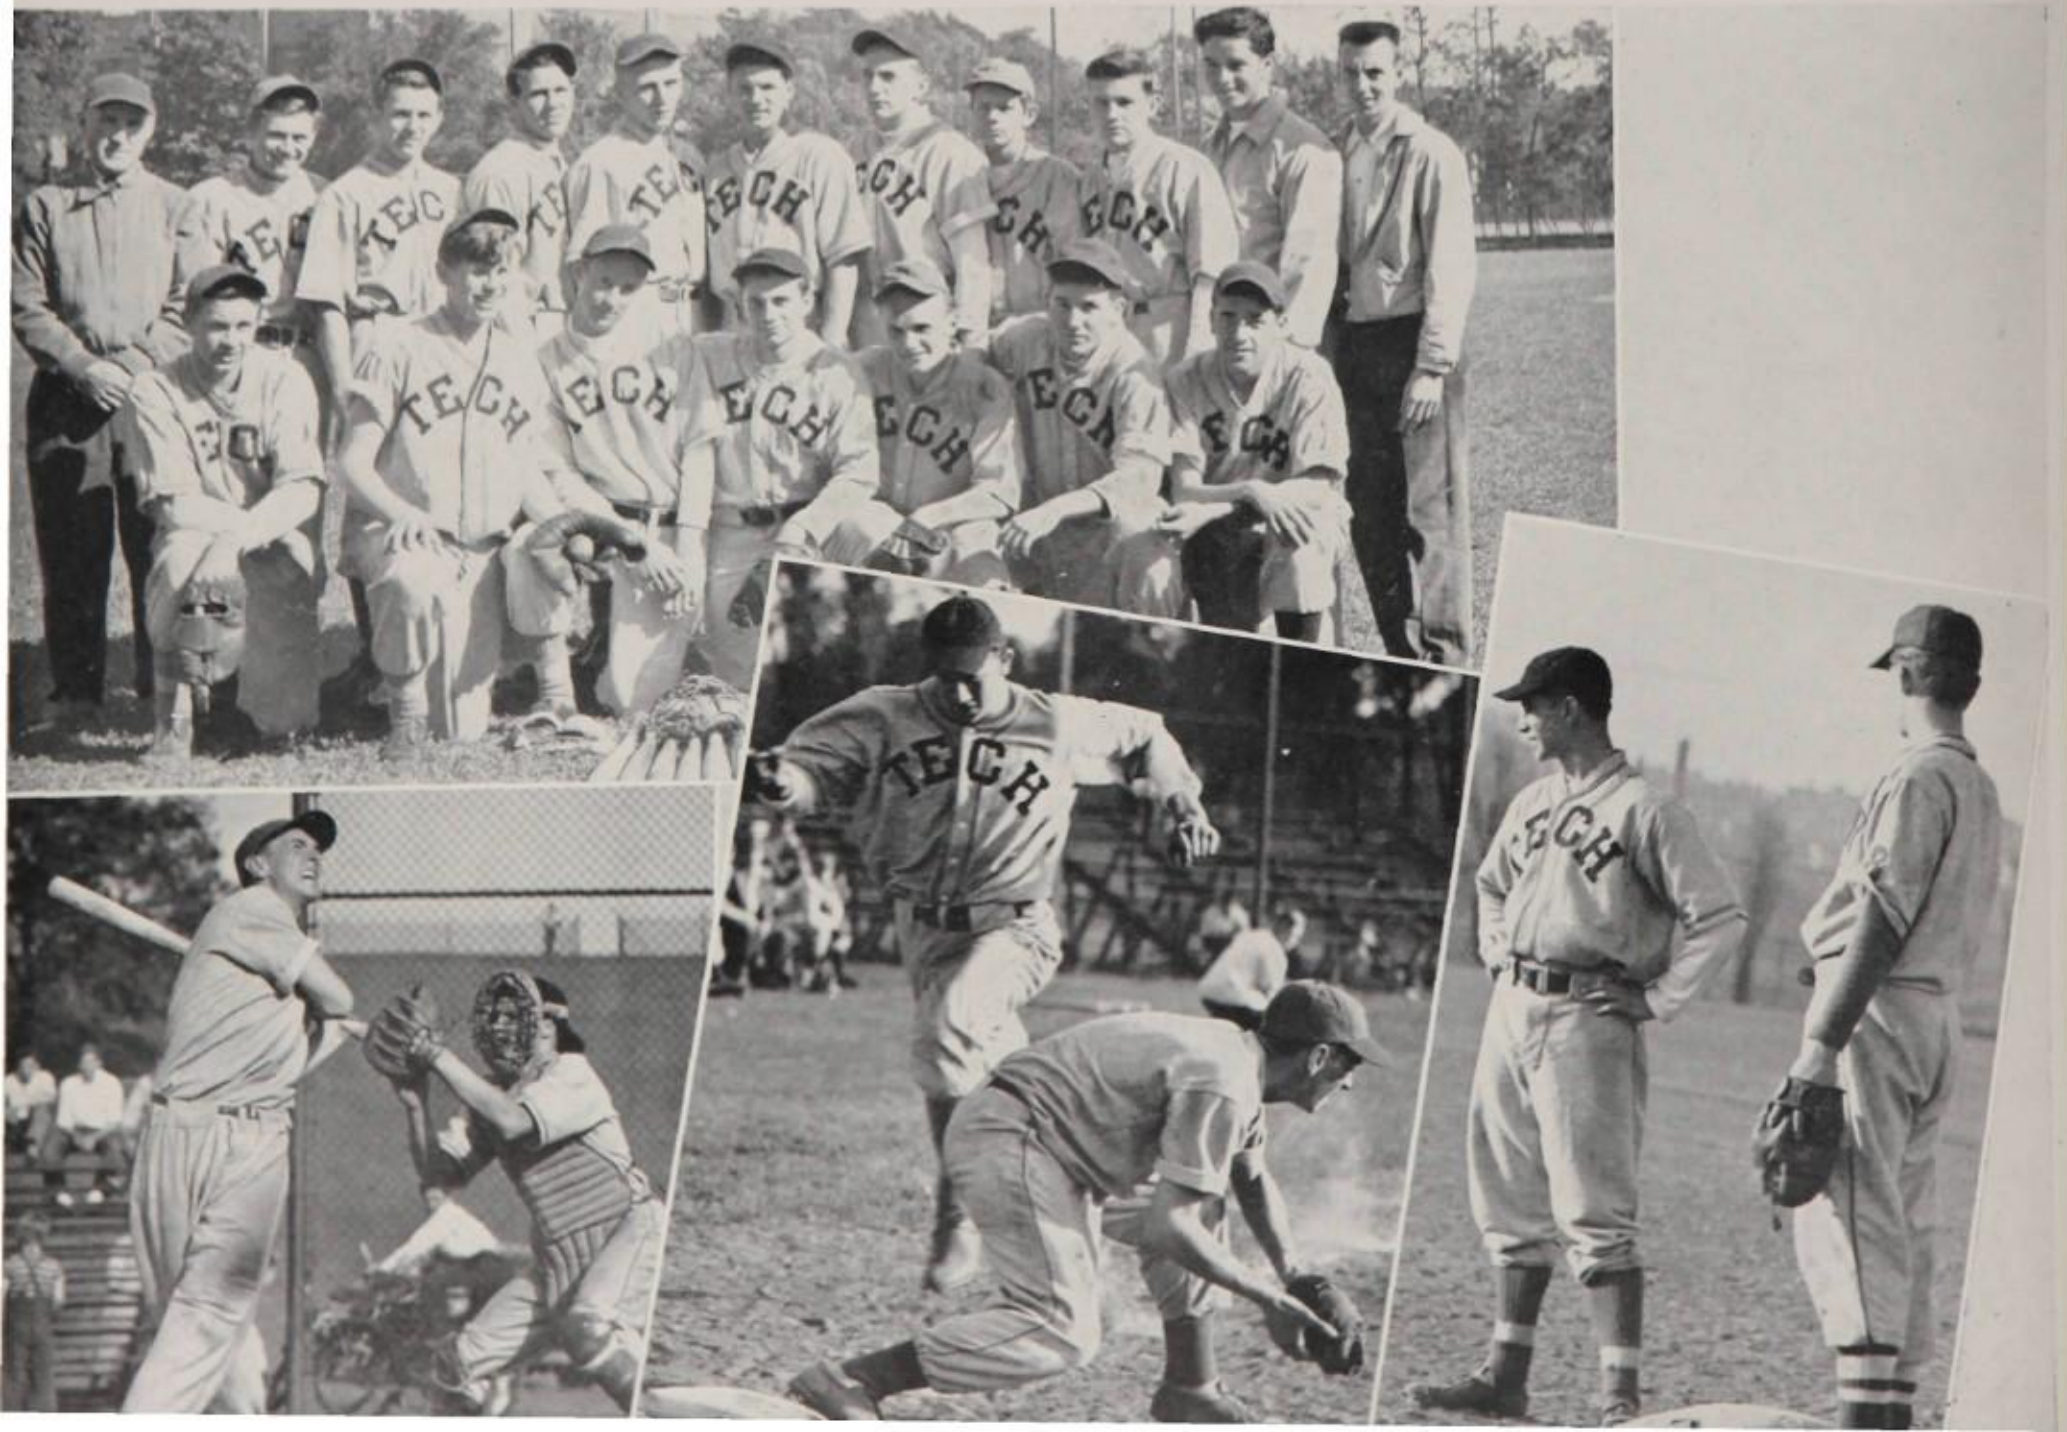

Tech Horsehide Hitters Break Even

A baseball season that had many surprises ended for Tech with an even 500 in the percentage column—five wins, five losses, and one tie. Although we did not have a championship team as we had in 1948—we lost some of our top stars through graduation—our boys were a constant threat to every team they met. Some of the baseball skill that won the respect of opposing teams is shown below.

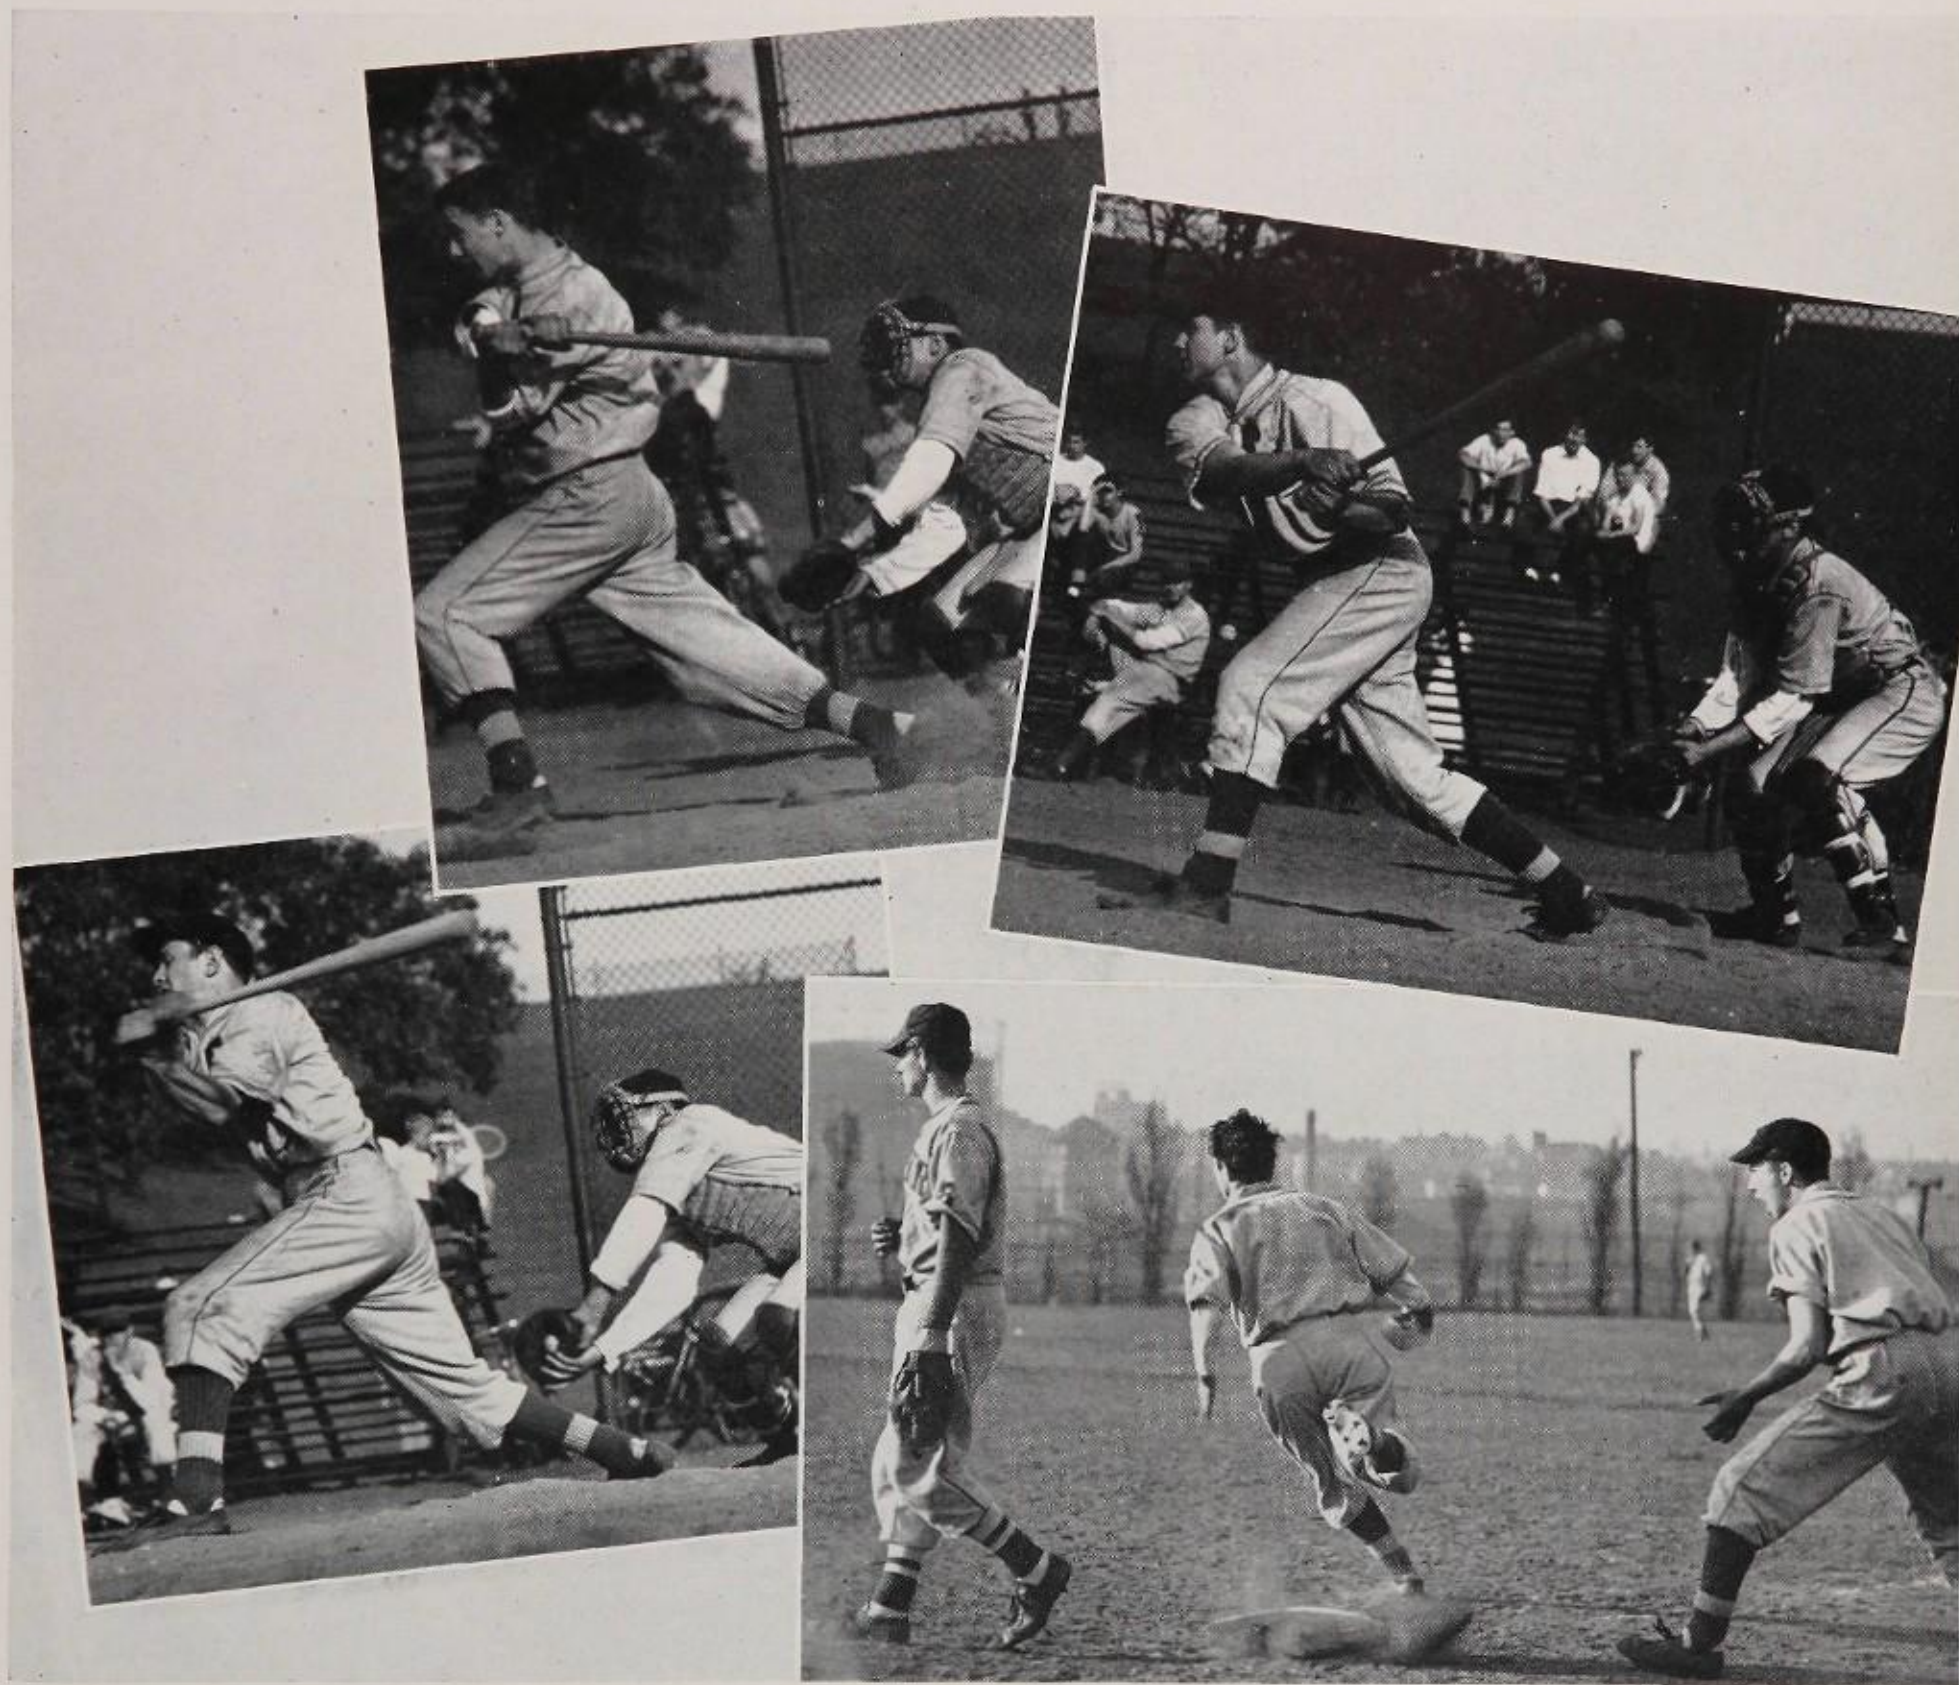

A hard swing, and a miss is caught by Marvin Rudd, as the South batter grimaces in disgust. Another shot from the South game shows Tom Patt streaking for first base in his fleet-footed manner which enabled him to beat out a number of hits. Ronald Miller seems to be as relaxed at first base as he is at shortstop, which may mean he is used to being on base.

First Row: T. Patt, G. Zajdel, A. Sawatski, R. Miller, H. Sabush, J. Eagle, T. Holquan.

Second Row: Coach Matthew McEvoy, J. Kroka, R. Stetz, G. Walloch, H. Semler, M. Rudd, M. Chmielewski, T. Krueger, J. Groskiewicz, J. Srok, R. Leslie.

Camera Catches Action on the Diamond

A smashing hit by Al Sawatski proved to be helpful in the South game (upper left). A foul ball is called on Ronald Miller in the South game (upper right), and if you look closely you will see the ball between the player on the bench and Ronny's knee. Ronald Stetz was a power hitter, but this was one time he did not connect (lower left), as can be seen if you look at the catcher's glove. Ronald Stetz, after slamming a hard-hit ball in the Custer game, rounds first base with Neil Bloxham telling him to speed it up in order to beat the throw to second.

Fleet-Footed Techmen Have Fair Season

Endurance, speed, and form are three characteristics required of a good track man, and a good number at least of the 1949 Tech track team developed these requirements. Long hours of practice are needed to develop the muscles and the stamina for that final sprint that is required to forge ahead and lead the field coming into the tape. Many of the boys that go out fail to weather the hard and grueling season, but those that do have gained valuable training in qualities that may stay with them for life. Some veterans were back from previous years, but many of the boys lacked the experience of participation in regular meets. The record of the 1949 season was far from sensational, but the fair showing and the experience gained should give promise of a better season in 1950.

Tracksters Show Form in Training

Muscles strain and faces change expression when track men put everything into a sport that takes all the skill and ability that a person can muster. These strains can be seen in the pictures on this page, taken during indoor and outdoor practice.

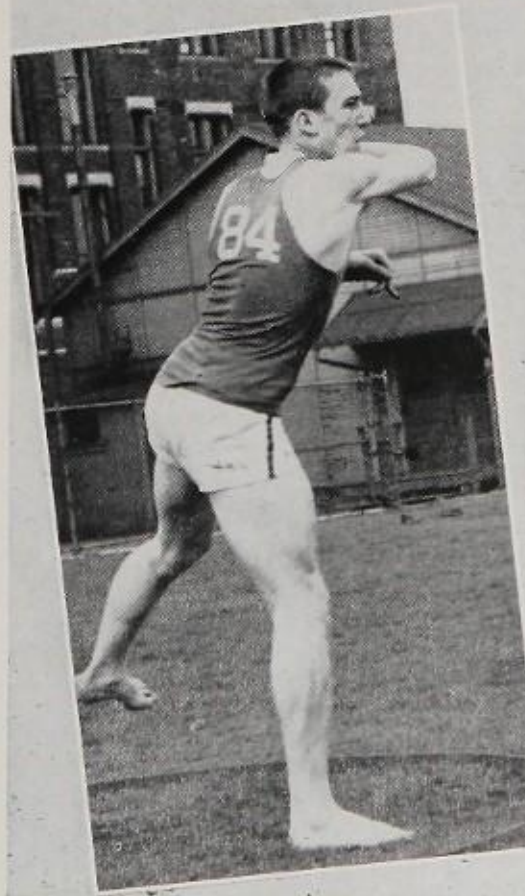

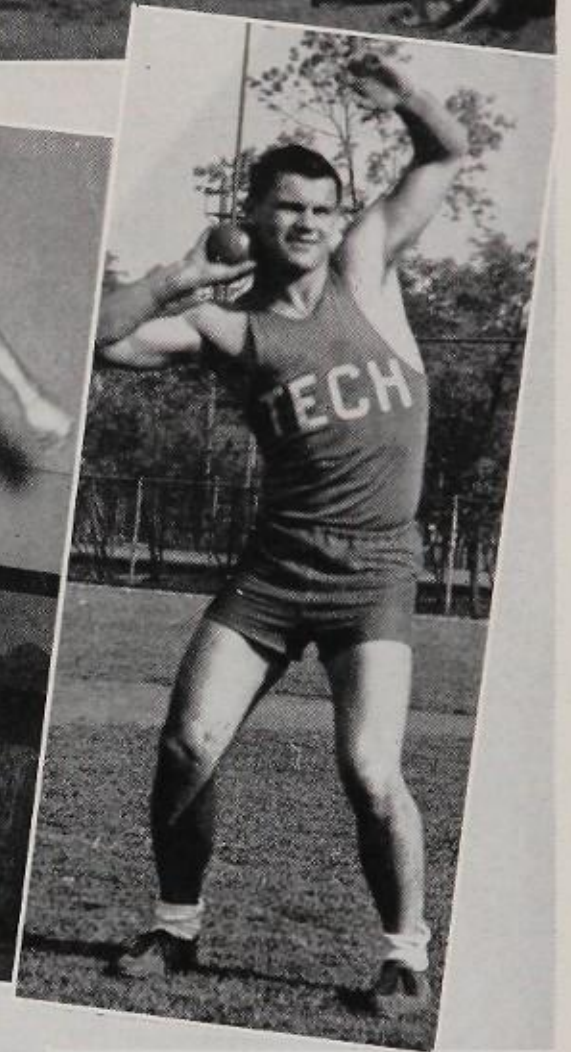

Bob Koeslin shows his starting form in his specialty, the 440, in which he placed in a number of meets last spring, to compile a goodly number of points for himself and for Tech.

Gil Kania, one of Tech's fastest hurdlers, travels so fast that the picture is slightly blurred. Gil was one of Tech's reliable track men who always had that last burst of speed.

John Tonz, one of the Tech shotput experts, is all ready to unwind and snap the iron ball into the air.

Barefoot Dick Schroeder has a follow through that makes the discus fly through the air with the greatest of ease.

Norbert Winiarski, another Tech discus thrower, also demonstrates his form in hurling the flying saucer.

Cindermen Run the Gantlet of Meets

Although the 1949 season was a long and hard one, the Trojan trackmen stayed on the ball and came through with fairly good results. They tied for fifth place with Shorewood in the State Teachers College Meet, and lost to East and defeated Pulaski in dual meets. Tech placed third in the South Quadrangular, and came in fourth in the South Sectional Relays. In the City Championship Relays, our boys came in in tenth place, and in the City Meet Bob Koeslin made our only points. Only one man, Bob Koeslin, was entered in the State Meet at Madison, and he made one point for Tech by placing in the 440. All in all, the boys worked hard, and the team hopes for a better season in 1950.

Practice makes perfect, so Manager Don Andel puts Frank Orban, Bob Koeslin, Bill Kautmann, Cosmo Gigante, and Duane Holz through the grind of taking out the kinks in their starts.

Bob Koeslin hits the tape for a first in the 440 in the South Side Quadrangular Meet, and Lawrence Wagner of Tech is also trying hard to place. (Milwaukee Journal Photo.)

Tech Golf Club Takes on New Form

Last year's Golf Club, under the leadership of Mr. J. F. Witeck, consisted of many new members, some of whom had never played before. As the season progressed, the various matches were played, Dave Ische winning the first flight championship. In the championship flight, William Hildebrandt, a three-season veteran, took the honors, with Robert Ehrman runner-up.

Mr. J. F. Witeck, an able golf instructor, demonstrates a few of the finer points about golf the day the trophies were distributed. Pictured here are Mr. Witeck, Carl Dentice, Douglas Rogers, and Walter Stein.

GOLF TEAM

Standing: Ray Scharein, Mr. E. W. Held, Tom Tarnowski, Joe Molitor, Jerome La Londe, Douglas Rogers, Mr. J. F. Witeck, Walter Stein, Joe Kolbeck, Ronald Kocinski.

First Row: Earl Krause, Frank Stanaszek, Ronald Stetz, Ronald Koepsel, Cosmo Gigante, Alois Romanski, Joe Stebly, Don Paprocki, Rudolph Schmalzer, Don Morgan, Ronald Miller, Robert Schulz, James Schutten, Manager Delbert Butzlaff.

Football Forty-Niners Hit Pay Dirt

A new team, complete from uniforms to coach, ran onto the field to start the 1949 season with high hopes and spirit. These Trojans ended the season with the best record compiled by a Tech football team in the last several years.

Although only a few lettermen were back from the season before, our inexperienced gridgers opened a startling season by winning the first game, overwhelming West by a score of 19 to 7. In the second game our boys were only able to tie Washington, which later became a threat to the championship, by a 7 to 7 score.

In our third game we met the future title holders and almost defeated them. One slight lapse in our defense on one play created the opening the Ramblers needed to run over the only touchdown of the game. Tech had to settle for a field goal and a final score of 7 to 3. This game was the only one in which Pulaski came dangerously close to losing.

During the remainder of the season, we defeated East, South, and Juneau, and lost to Custer and King. This record gave us a tie with Lincoln for fifth place in the city conference standings.

Two on All-City

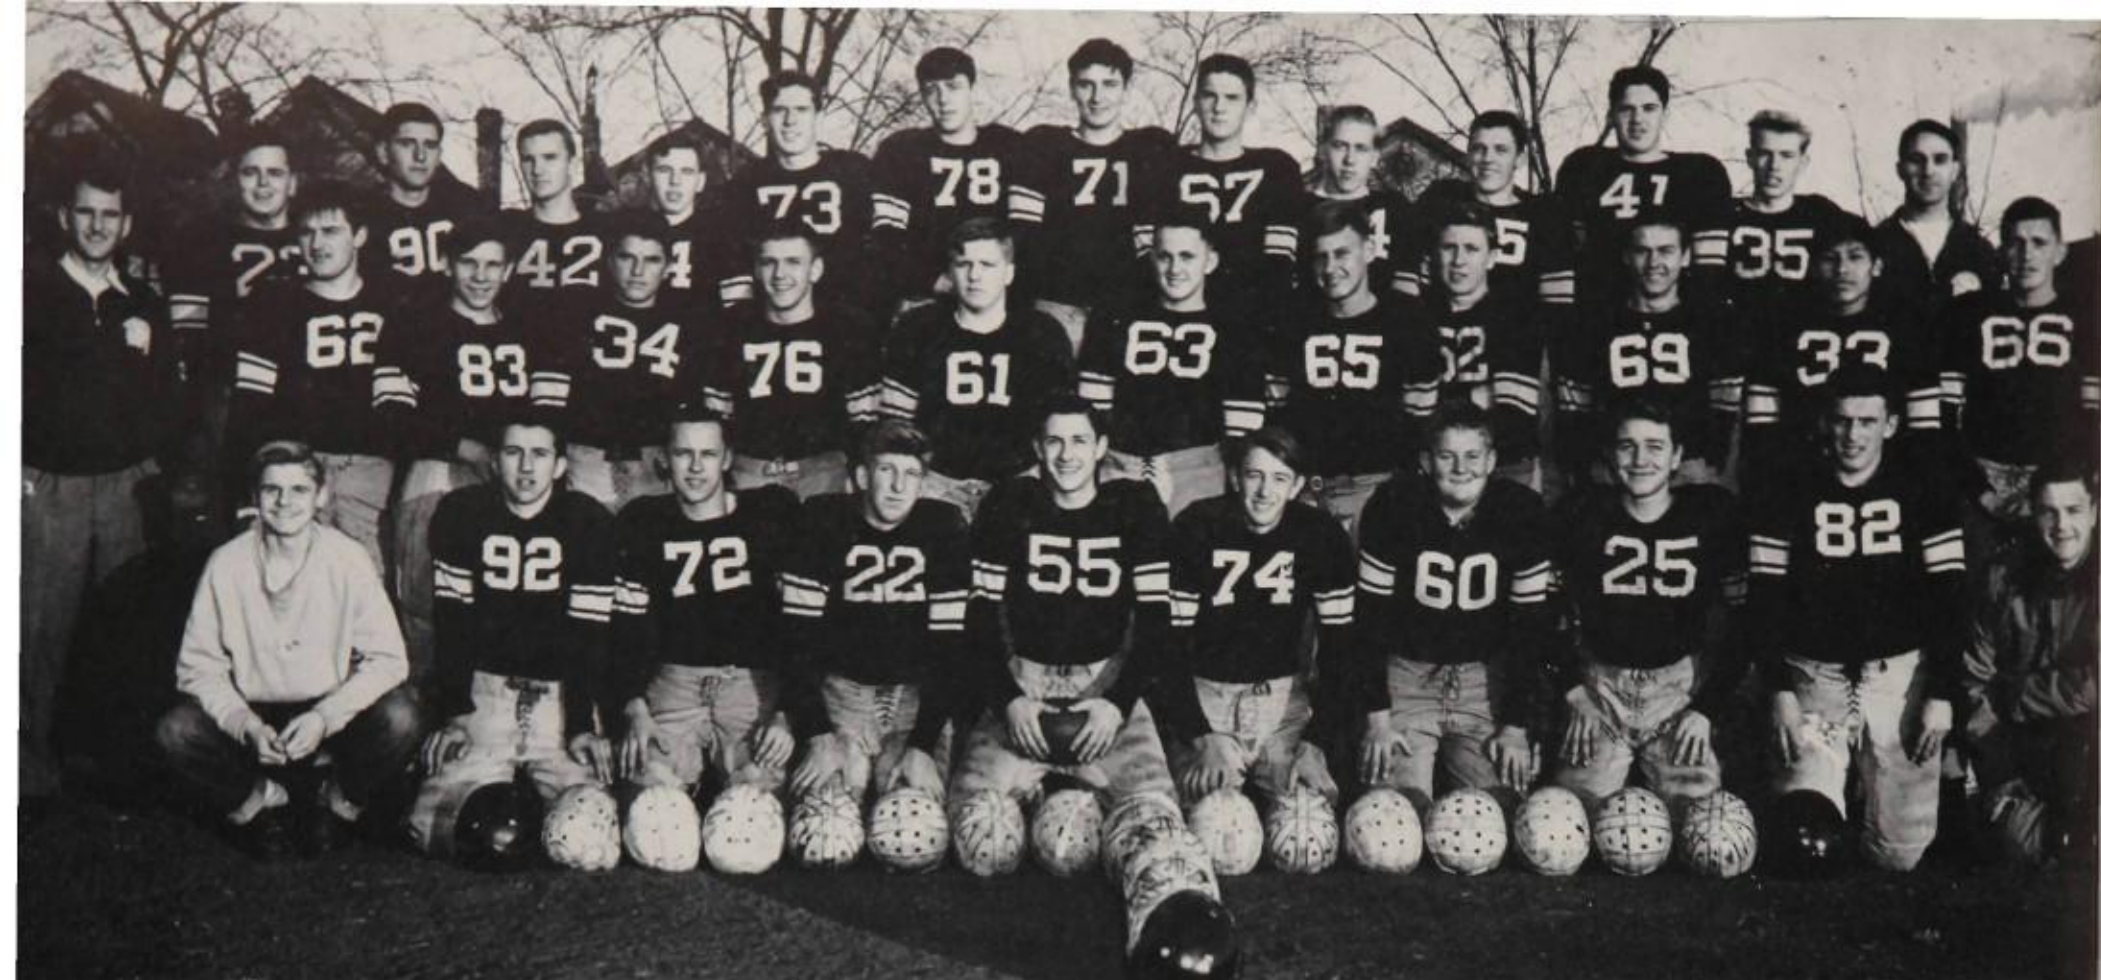

Tech's All-City selections, Ron Drzewiecki and Joe Stebly, are pictured here (lower right) with Coach Richardson. These honorary selections are made by all the coaches of the conference. Frequently over the loudspeaker would come the name of Joe Stebly for his hard tackling, which earned him a spot on the All-City first team. Also the uniform with the number 74 could be seen frequently speeding for that far-away goal, and that ability won Ron Drzewiecki a berth on the second team.

The action shots on these two pages were taken in the Pulaski, Juneau, and Washington games. Sharp punting by Bob Koeslin (upper left) helped to keep Tech in the running in the Pulaski game. (Milwaukee Sentinel Photo). Even in a game that is won, as was the case in the Juneau game, one of our Tech gridgers is literally covered with opposing tacklers (upper center), and the next photo shows some hard tackling in the same game. Cosmo Gigante shows how teamwork and skill were used to defeat Juneau (upper right). It looks as if he might even go for a touchdown. Although our team seems to be lying down on the job (right) they produced the opening through which Hank Turowski scored our only touchdown against Washington to give us a tie.

Frosh-Sophs Triumph in City Conference

The 1949 Freshman-Sophomore football team brought home the first football trophy ever won by Boys' Tech, tying Lincoln for first place in the "junior" conference. The team went through the season undefeated except for the setback they received from Bay View, in which the Red Cats really scratched the Trojans' eyes out by the score of 20 to 6. Our boys finished the season with only this one loss, and thereby tied Lincoln, which also suffered one reverse, which incidentally Boys' Tech gave them.

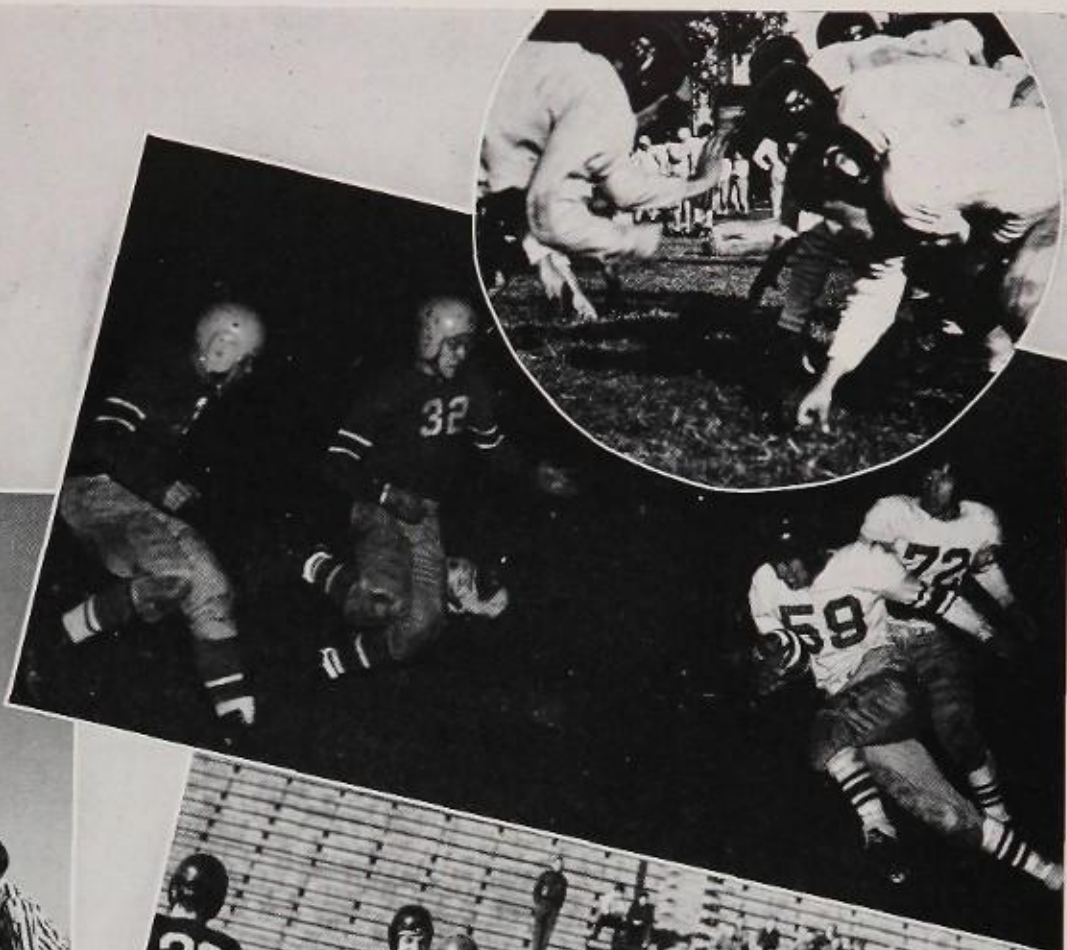

For the city play-off, we lost the coin toss, and Lincoln represented the South Side against Washington. Lincoln won, and the championship was split between Tech and Lincoln as co-champions. This team, through the future training of our coaches, should help to produce a championship varsity team in the next year or two. So we look forward hopefully to the next few seasons, and hope that Tech will have another football trophy soon.

Season Has Interesting Highlights

Cross Country Harriers Have Good Season

Cross country, which is a relatively new sport at Tech, is looking up, and the 1949 team was an improved aggregation. Lined up for a practice start are the regulars Alexander Szczech, Harold Koeslin, Ronald Zepnick, Marvin Schumacher, Alvin Czysh, Alfred Sawatske, and Neil Bloxham (upper left). Alfred Sawatske, in all his glory, is shown leading the pack for a few minutes in the South Side Sectional (left center).

Bang! There's the gun, and the race has started between Tech and North (bottom), in which Tech won by an overwhelming decision. (North Division Photo.)

Our three mainstays in all the meets were Harold Koeslin, Alfred Sawatske, and Marvin Schumacher, who usually came in one, two, three in all meets but the City and South Side Sectionals, in which Koeslin came in second. Also shown are Manager Martin Ewert and Coach William Muth.

Tech Cagers Caught in Action Shots

Tech Quintet Weathers a Tough Season

Although our hardwooders experienced a pretty rough season, there was one bright spot for the Trojan followers when John Meleski won the city individual scoring championship. He not only won top scoring honors, but he set a new season record. The city's new record-breaking point scorer and also the city coaches' selection for one of the forward positions on the All-City team is shown below with Coach McEvoy. The action pictures from the Don Bosco game show Al Sawatski and Tom Stocke up for the rebound (lower left), and George Lewis and Al Sawatski trying to get control of the ball (lower right).

High Hopes for the Team Coming Up

Spotlight Turns on Tech's Gym Team

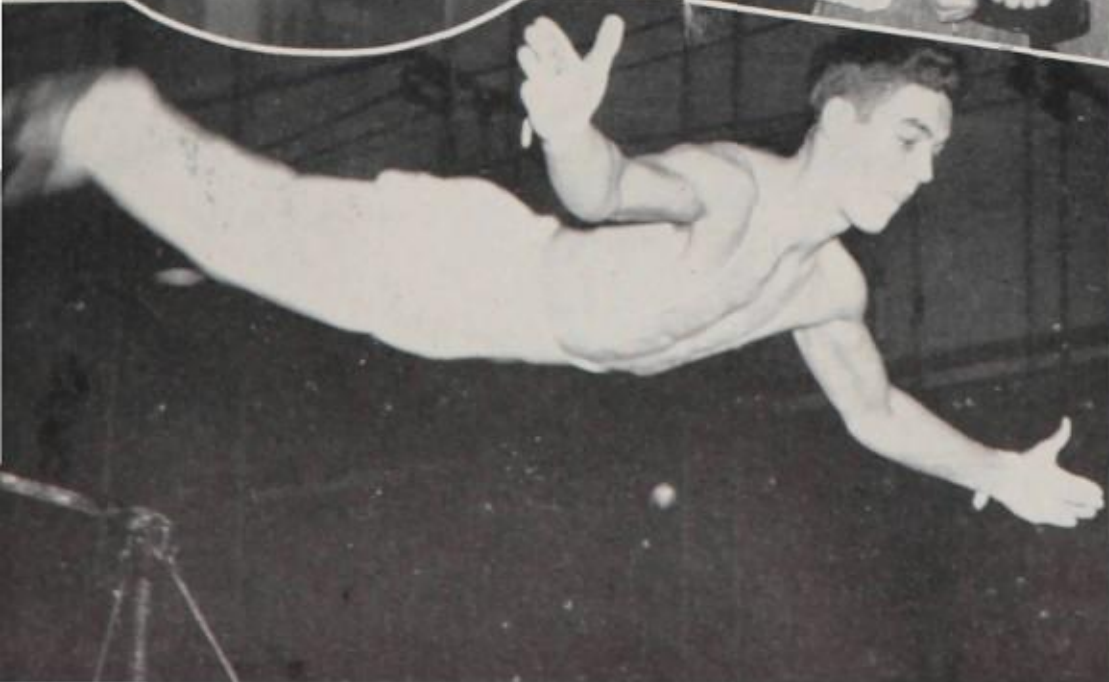

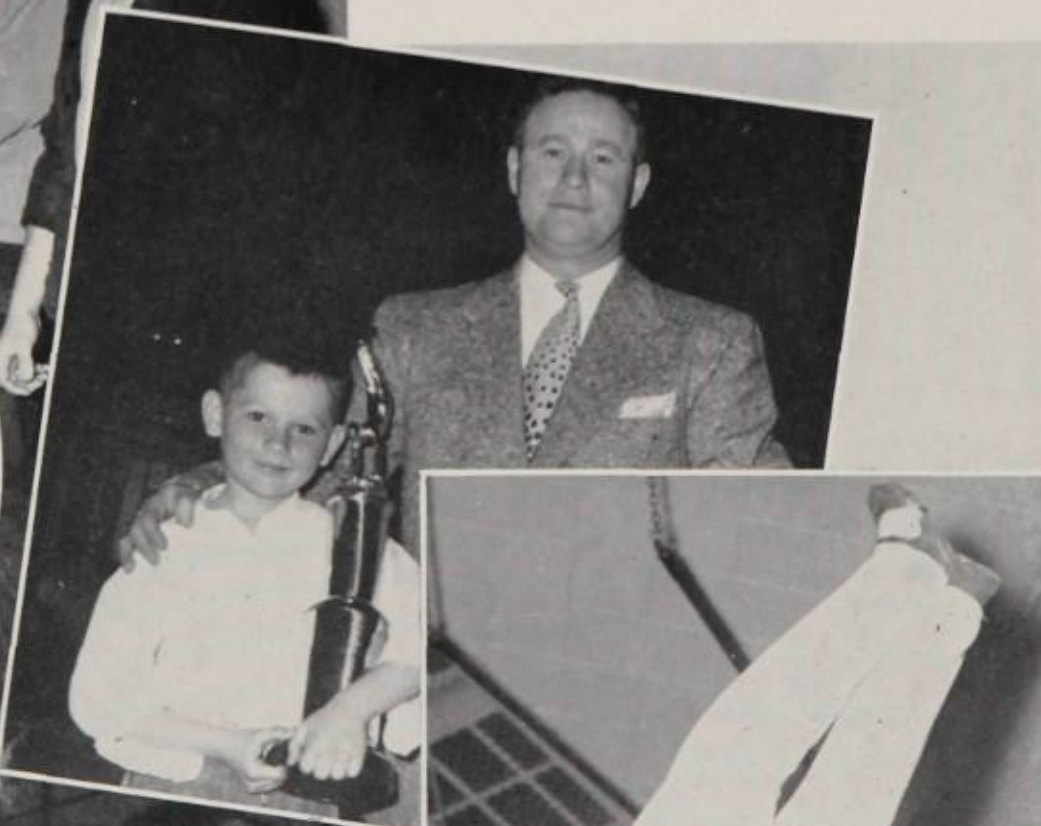

In both the 1949 and 1950 city gym meets, the Trojan athletes have covered themselves with glory and brought home some trophies. In addition to high team scores, for the boys must work and score as a team, we have had some high individual scorers. Last year, Waldemar Davis and Lewis Jasiorkowski tied for first place honors in leading Tech's Intermediate Gym Team to victory in that division. In the Senior Section our team placed second, and Charles Hughes was high individual scorer for the city. Tech's fine team record was maintained in 1950, when the Senior and Freshmen-Sophomore teams carried off first honors.

Gym Champs

With a good nucleus of experienced and outstanding gymnasts from the year before and a capable group of newcomers, Coach William Muth was able to whip two winning gym teams and a number of top-notch individual performers into shape. Our experienced and skillful Senior squad entered the 1950 City Gym Meet with high hopes, and they came back with the first Senior Gym Team trophy won by Boys' Tech. Four members of the Tech team placed among the ten highest in the city.

The week before, the Freshman-Sophomore Team went to Pulaski and won that meet with flying colors, outpointing West by almost twenty points. Here also Tech placed four boys among the ten highest in the city, with first and second individual honors for the Trojans. Only three of the Junior squad were entered in that section, and all three were among the first ten, taking a fourth place in the team standings, a very fine showing. The Trojan gymnasts are eyeing more championships next year.

Under the leadership of Co-captains Dick Koeske and Joe Pawlak (in water, upper left) the Tech swimming team compiled a satisfactory record, winning about two-thirds of the meets. The only school our boys lost to in the City Conference was Pulaski. Gathered round the co-captains are Ernie Raasch, Glen Groth, Dick Dudley, and Ed Dillon. Below, Joe Pawlak and Gordon Mudlaff, Tech's star breast stroke, have a little race at an afternoon practice session.

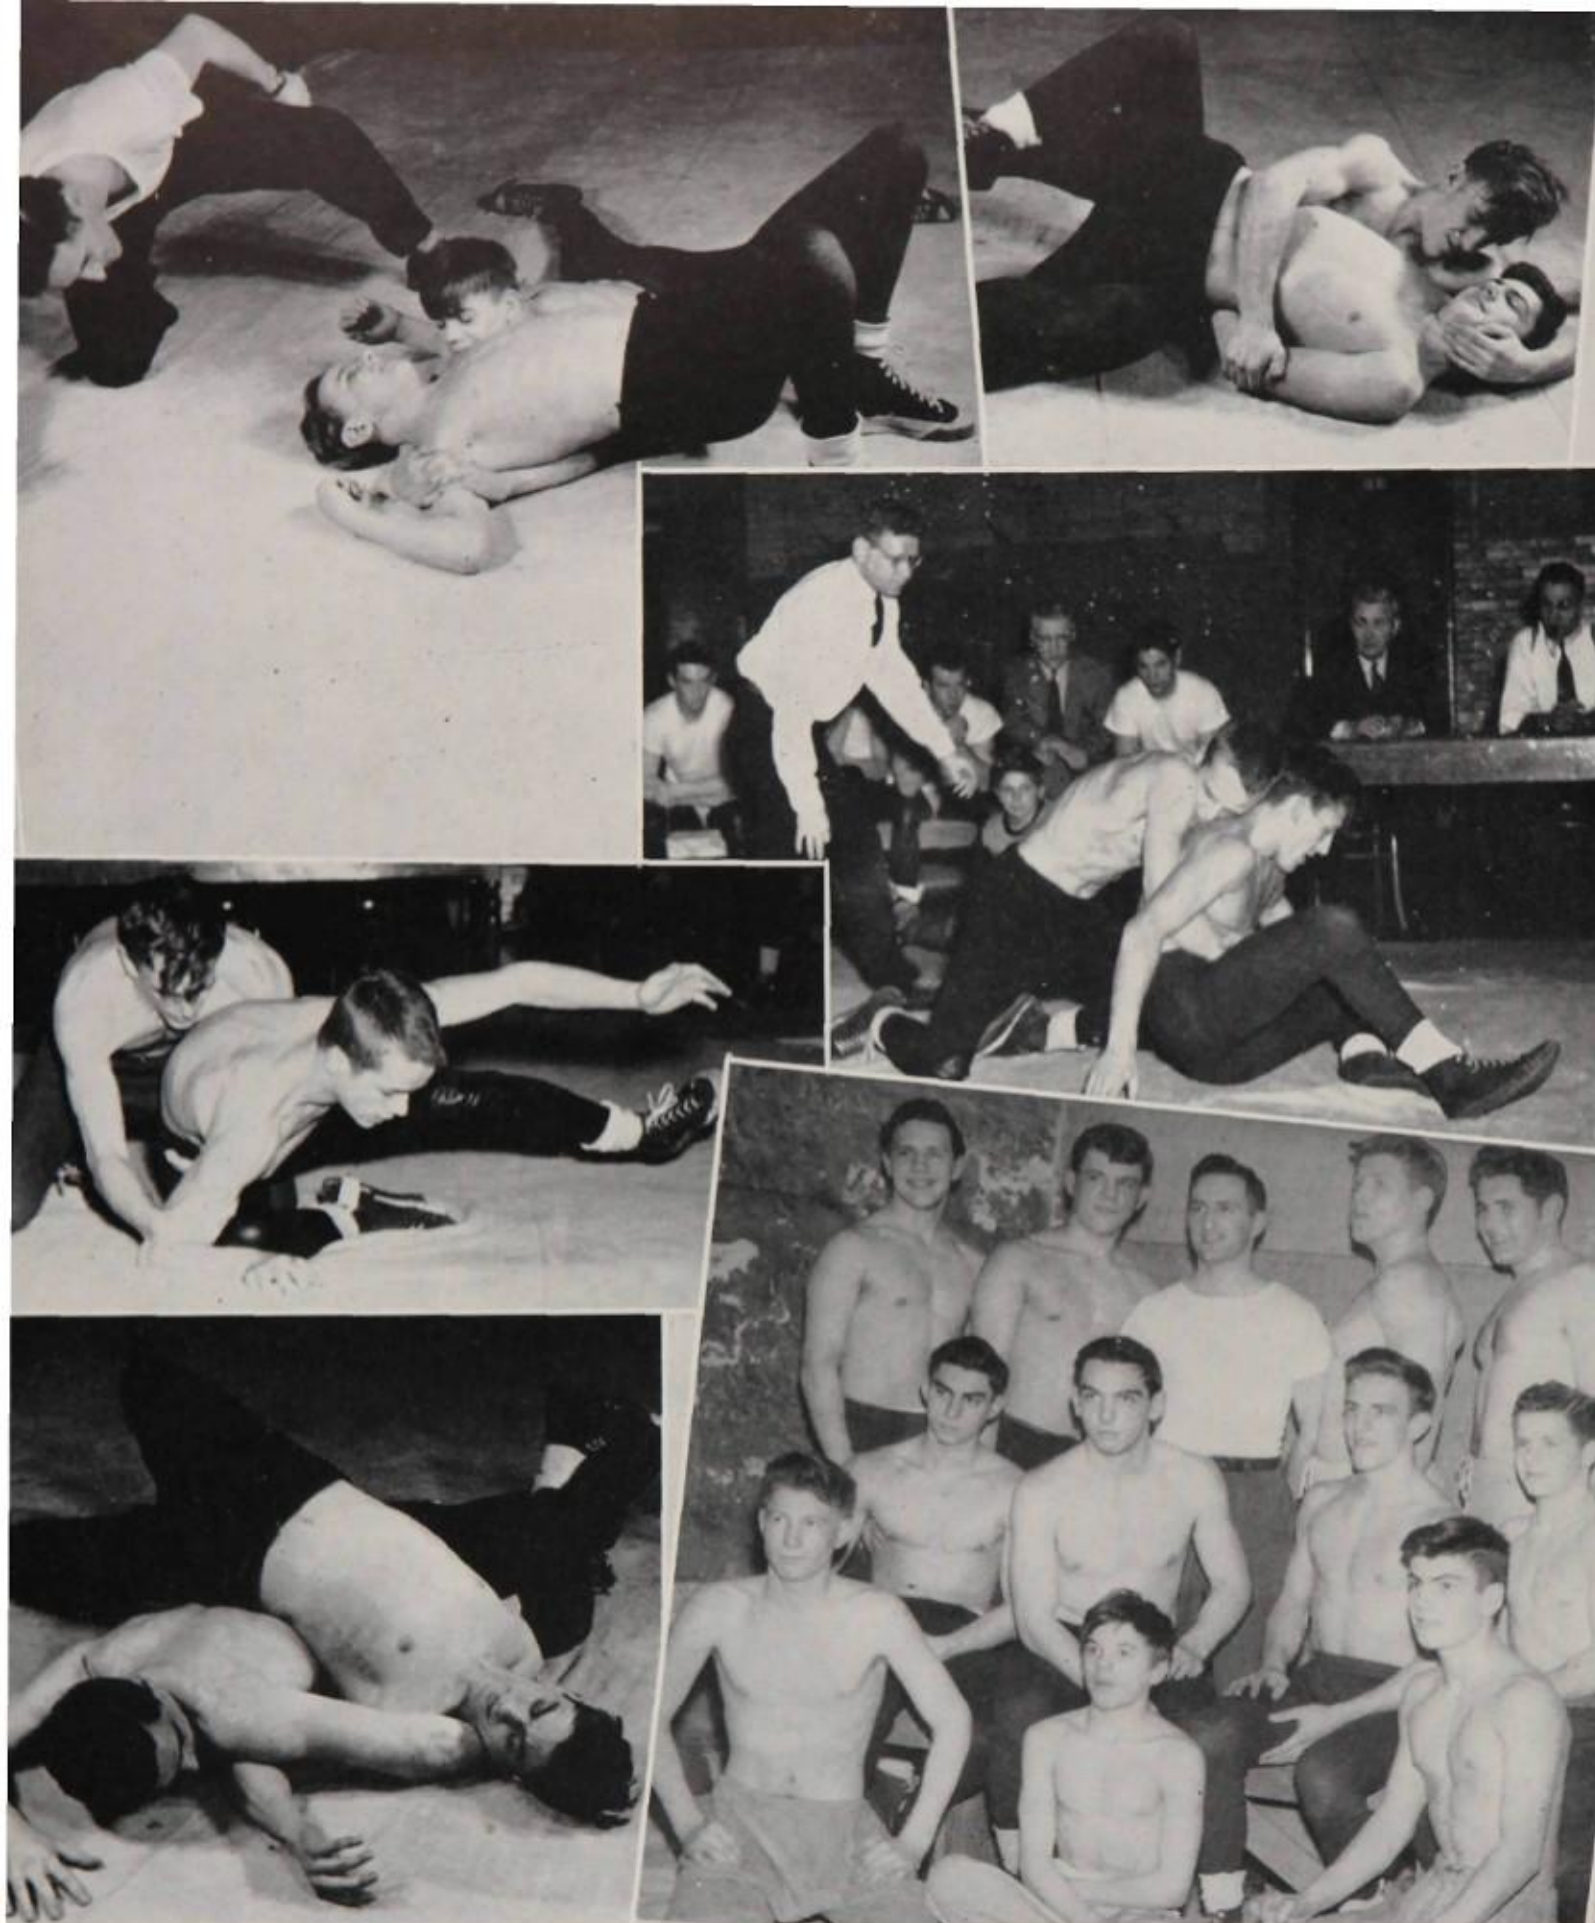

Grace and Skill Adorn Swimming Tank

Swimming requires form and skill, as well as the will to win. The photos on this page illustrate what we mean. Bob Oberdank, who graduated in January, demonstrates the proper backstroke start (upper left), and members of the swimming team show grace and poise as they perform the difficult cartwheel (upper right).

Bob Skiera (lower center) does the difficult full gainer, as members of the team admire his skill. Dick Koeske and Bob Raitz (lower right) watch for that split second hand touch, which in a relay means the starting gun for the next on deck.

Coach Clarence Scheer, who is now becoming well established as Tech's swimming coach, looks over some of the team's activities with his ever-watchful eye (lower left).

Wrestling Takes New Hold at Tech

Wrestling, a sport that has been having rough going here at Tech, is finally becoming established as a competitive sport. The team folded up last year, but under the able coaching of Mr. Lowell Oberly it is back in full swing.

Intramural Sports Gain in Popularity

An activity that is rapidly increasing in popularity at Boys' Tech is the intramural sports program that the Athletic Department offers. Prior to the interscholastic basketball season an intramural basketball tournament is held, and following the close of the swimming season a water polo tournament is staged. These tournaments use the elimination, or "quick death", process.

Two new sports are being added to the roster of intramural activities — baseball and track. Five teams were entered in the baseball tournament, which used the round robin method of elimination. A track meet was held for students who were not on the track squad, with ribbons for the winners. These sports not only give the students a well-rounded sports program, but they also help the coaches find new material.

The photos below were taken during the water polo tournament last spring and the basketball tournament last fall. Maybe you can find yourself on one of them.

Trojans Parade and Dance for Homecoming

Homecoming is the annual occasion that brings out a lot of our shop students' ingenuity in the form of floats for the parade, some clever and some corny. In the parade to the South Stadium, the Band marched, many decorated cars were on hand, including one for the Artisan photographers, and the floats were in evidence. Sorry to say, Custer didn't crack up, we didn't make custard of Custer, nor did we mow Custer down. But the lawnmower float, Homecoming project of the Machine Shop, won the prize annually awarded by the Student Council.

Athletes are Honored at Banquets

Among those who attended the annual football banquet last December were members of Coach Stocum's near championship 1928 team. This team went through the season without being scored on until the play-off game with Lincoln, in which the Lincoln gridders forged ahead in the second half to win the city championship.

The rough and tumble 1928 football runners-up are James Arnold, Howard Tapper, Doc Ewert, Monroe Boettcher, Paul Bau, Ralph Nelson, Dick Truzowski, Bill Maher, Oscar Ott, Coach Wilbur Stocum, Jerry Wittig, Irving Pelkowski, John Kaponya, John Pfeiffer, Ben Turna, John Perko.

This trophy is the one that the Frosh-Soph football team won as co-champions of the city. Mr. McCrory is placing the award in the case as Coach Pezoldt and James Purdy stand on the sidelines and watch.

At a dinner last spring, Coach Scherr awarded James Cotter, a versatile swimmer, his letter, with Dan Matthews the next in line. Mrs. Scherr and Mr. McCrory are seated at the table watching the proceedings.

Our fastest man in the forty and hundred yard free style, Bob Jones, also received his letter from Coach Scherr. Other first class swimmers are Richard Radomski, and Richard Amann.

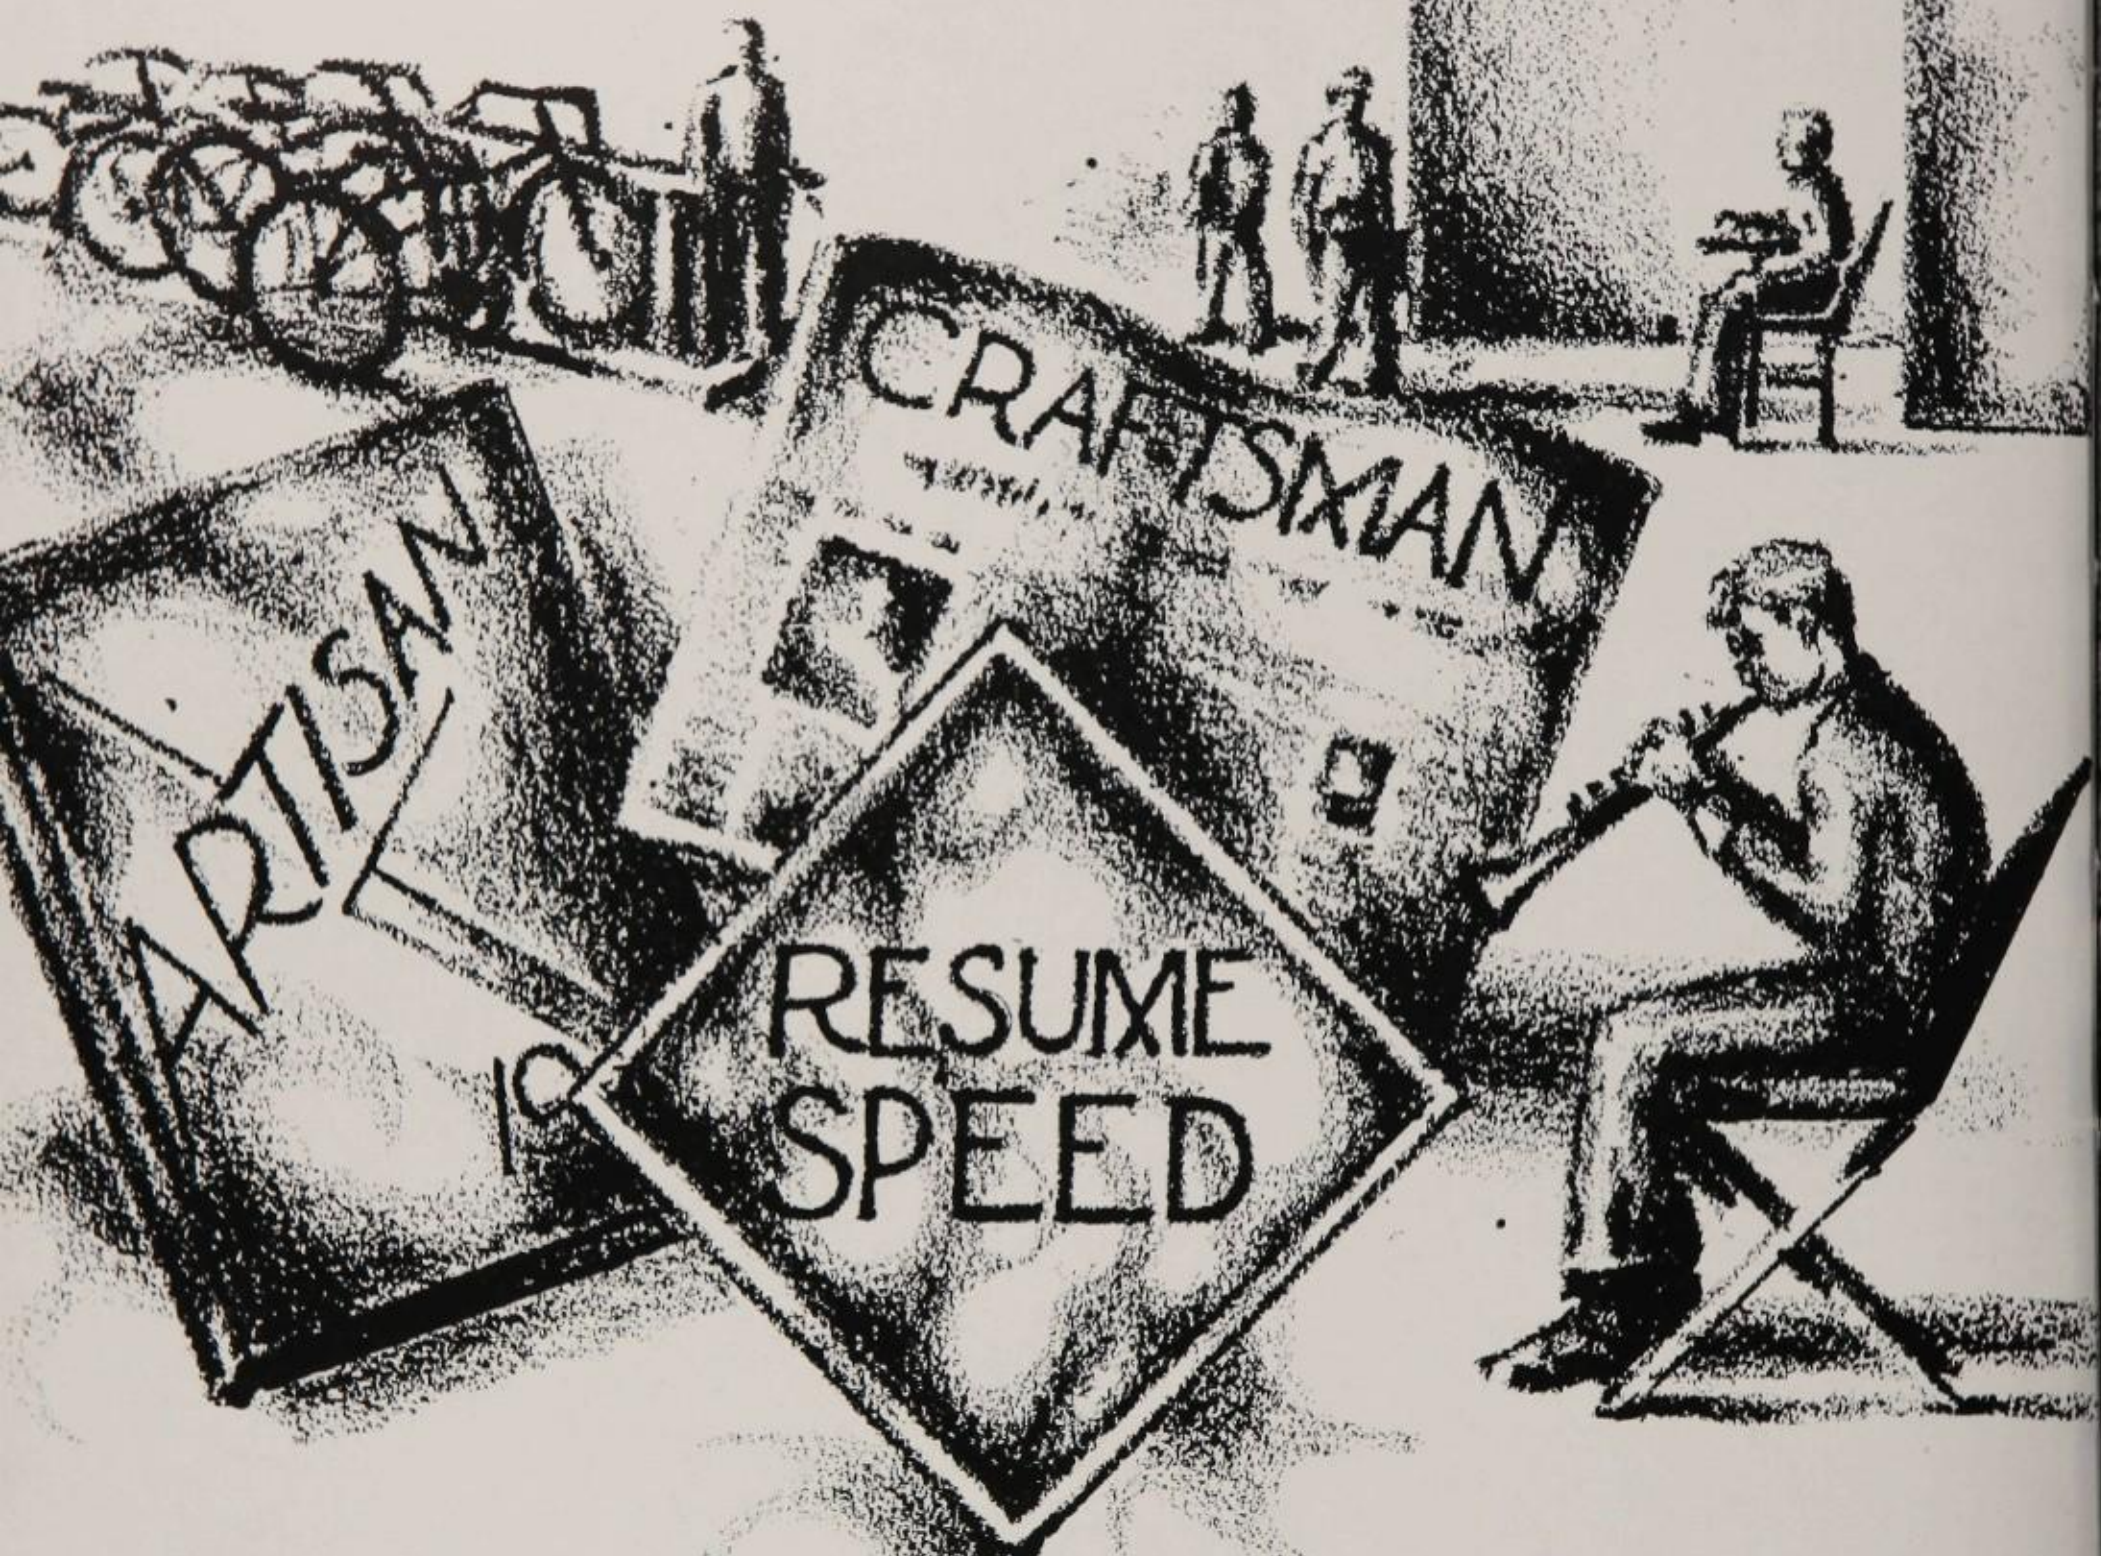

Tech's best in the football lineup are found lined up at the annual football banquet. They are Joe Stebly, Ron Drzewiecki, Coach Richardson, Al Romanski, Don Paprocki, Ralph Leibhauser, and Mr. Ziegenhagen.

Student Council Leads in School Affairs

Through noon-hour movies, school dances, the Homecoming Parade, and other school activities, the B. T. H. S. Student Council serves the boys of Tech throughout the year. Meeting every Wednesday in Room 81, they discuss school problems and activities, determine upon course of action, and make recommendations to the school administration. Student Council members also serve as ushers for proms, graduation, open house, and other affairs. The meetings are conducted by elected officers and supervised by advisers. Officers are elected every June for the following year.

The Band Takes the Musical Spotlight

The musical organization that takes the spotlight at football games, school assemblies, and many other occasions is the B. T. H. S. Band, the goal of the majority of the Tech musicians. It is really two organizations, the Marching Band and the Concert Band. At the end of the football season, the Band has to do a quick change act from the loud tones and the marching music featured in the fall, to the soft and sweet and more finished music for Christmas programs, commencement, and the Spring Concert. But the boys, under the direction of Mr. J. Thomas Oakes, seem to accomplish this feat without great difficulty.

Other Instrumentalists Make Music

Rounding out the instrumental activities in Boys' Tech music are the Senior Orchestra, the String Ensemble, the Cadet Band, and the Junior Band. The Senior Orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Sophia Foreman, is a larger and more talented organization than it has been for the last couple of years. A String Ensemble has also been organized, and it is made up of select members of the Senior Orchestra. These organizations, which are definitely on the upgrade, have played for various special occasions, and the Orchestra's selection "Jazz Pizzicato" was again a favorite at the Spring Concert.

Beginners in instrumental music are first tried and tested in the Junior Band. The harmony is not always at its best, but the future musicians learn how to count and read music. At Christmas, these boys parade through the halls, blowing their hearts out on Christmas carols. When the musicians have proved themselves in the Junior Band, they are advanced to the Cadet Band, a larger and better organization. The Cadet Band opens the Spring Concert and plays at a few assemblies. Its members are also used as substitutes for Senior Band members at football games.

Advanced Senior Songsters Set the Goal

The goal of every Tech singer is the Advanced Senior Glee Club which is achieved after the boys have made the grade in the other glee clubs. These advanced singers participate in several assemblies, and sing a number of selections at the Annual Spring Concert. Those who are really pretty good may have a chance to sing in the Quartet which Mrs. Foreman selects from the cream of the crop. The Quartet sang on the Teen Age Time program when it was Tech's day of glory to broadcast.

Future Frankies Take Bass-ic Training

As we have a Junior Band for beginners in instrumental music, so we have a Junior Glee Club for the future crooners of America. After you have sung your way through this organization, which usually takes one semester, you will become a member of the Senior Glee Club, if you stick to your singing. These two organizations should acquaint you with the fundamentals of music, and should enable you to pick up a piece of music and sing it. Both organizations are under the direction of Mrs. Sophia Foreman.

The hall monitorial system is a large and intricate organization, with chiefs, captains, lieutenants, and sergeants who supervise the boys at the posts. Supervising the whole system is Mr. Wilbur W. Stocum, who took over last fall when Mr. Kenneth B. Oyer, who has directed the hall monitors for several semesters, temporarily took over Mr. Arthur H. Kastner's job in the Architectural Drafting Department. The monitors direct visitors, keep order in the halls, check lockers and bicycles to see if they are locked, give information, and try to be generally useful. All of this is a valuable service to the school.

Here are some of your Boys' Tech hall monitors, who were photographed at their various posts throughout the main building and annex, instead of in larger groups by periods as has been done in the past. The experiment did not work too well, but here are the results, with the possibility that some were missed. Whether photographed or not, most of the boys are on the job most of the time. Through their watchfulness, the material in many an unlocked locker has been safely stowed in the Office, and many lost articles returned.

Hall Monitors Direct School Visitors

Giving information to outsiders and younger students, directing visitors to the proper offices or shops, are important duties of the hall monitors, as well as checking lockers and supervising the halls between classes. Their watchful eyes detect many irregularities, and it is through their efforts that good order in the halls is maintained.

Mr. Carl Strelitzer, Forestry Club adviser, chats with Mr. Murl Duesing backstage before the latter gave his unusual and different movies and talk on "Canoe Country" at a school assembly.

RADIO CLUB

Theodore Grasser, Jack Elger, Rudolph Krueger, Kenneth Otters, Thomas Spies, Keith Hanlon, John Carrol.

Radio Club President James Theissen, Secretary Glenn Hamilton, and Adviser J. K. Jacobson view modulation patterns on an oscilloscope.

Our once numerous clubs have dwindled until there are but two that are really active, the Forestry Club and the Radio Club. The Forestry Club, now under the guidance of Mr. Carl Strelitzer, has taken a number of field trips, including one to Kettle Moraine and the encampment at Eagle River. Members of the club also participated in tree planting at Potter School Forest. The Radio Club has also been meeting regularly and has placed entries in a 1950 radio contest. A new Architecture Club has been reported to us, and the Press Club meets now and then. But there ought to be more clubs at Boys' Tech, to fit the many types of interest among our students.

Backstage Management Helps Programs

The Stage Crew under the direction of Mr. J. R. White and Mr. Herman Nicolaus, and the Booth Crew under the direction of Mr. A. H. Gould always do their best to give us the best in backstage management.

At the stage switchboard are Warren Lister, Student Manager Donald Brue, William Yee, and Mr. White.

Operating the main stage curtain are Mr. Nicolaus, Ervin Radner, Ralph Kassulke, and Donald Ball.

Members of the Booth Crew also shine at programs, and the boys who shine the spot are Joel Tucek, Joe Zandron, John Gill, and Keith Hanlon.

Projectionists Show School Movies

Classroom projectionists serve the school by volunteering their study hall time to show movies for class instruction. Sometimes there is a lull in their activities, but most of the time they are kept pretty busy lugging their projectors and screens to the various rooms, setting up the machines, and projecting the movies. Most of the time things run smoothly enough, but some days they really have trouble. Mr. Gould and Mr. Johnson keep on the jump, too, scheduling and supervising their showing.

It certainly is educational and it may be entertaining, but there is also plenty of work in publishing The Craftsman, Tech's bi-weekly school paper. The boys on the staff try to provide complete coverage of the school's sports, assemblies, and other academic and extra-curricular activities, as well as to provide other miscellaneous features of interest to the student body.

With its many pictures, large variety of features, and easily read type, The Craftsman is one of the best and most widely read school papers in the state. Subscriptions are handled through the English classes, and the boys subscribe almost 100 per cent. Yes, the best informed Techites read The Craftsman.

Whether it's writing news stories, editorials, or features, the Craftsman reporters and feature writers handle them all. Often these boys join the staff as Freshmen or Sophomores, starting as cub reporters and working their way up. Many are recommended by their English teachers for their writing ability, and some just have a yen to be news hounds. With The Craftsman coming out every two weeks, a good reporter may compile quite a few column inches of copy during the year.

The Yearbook Still Struggles On

Besides planning the annual, deciding on a theme, executing the art work, taking the photographs, and preparing the copy, Artisan staff members are also called upon to do other miscellaneous chores, such as putting on the Evening of Stars show, ballyhooing the book, and bludgeoning enough loyal Techites into subscribing to guarantee its publication. In all these activities versatility has been an asset. Editorial staff members were called upon to assist in the subscription drive, and business staff members were called upon to help prepare copy when the chips were down and the time was short—as it was in May this year.

Artisan Staff Works Against Time

Starting along about Easter Vacation time, the question the staff hears most often is: "When do we get The Artisan?" At that time there is still plenty of work to be done. In fact, from that time on, all staff members are busy, with the exception of the artists, whose work is out of the way. Various activities are pictured below—business staff members going over receipts and records, editorial staffs going over pictures and discussing lay-out ideas, photographers trying to catch up with their negatives and enlargements, and the art staff members examining Strothman's division pages. Many of these boys graduate in June, so next year there will be plenty of vacancies on the staff. The line forms at Barracks 3.

Party

An informal "get-to-gether" to do some general planning and to partake of some refreshments was held early last fall at the home of Mr. Fitzpatrick.

Sixth Annual Evening of Stars Is Tops

From the time the Woodchopper Boys—and somebody left their pictures out—took the stage until the grand finale featuring the Tech Band and Louie Bashell, Tech's all-star show moved with snap and precision last December. School accordionists galore, a variety of good combos, the Tech Gym Team Acrobats, Dan Yesko, Little Jascha and his violin, and the J. R. White Players with their "J. Caesar" skit, the B. T. H. S. Band in "Guess Conductor", guest accordionists Joe Tondryk and Louis Bashell, and other entertaining acts all combined to make the Sixth Annual Evening of Stars the best of the series.

Santa Claus Comes to Boys' Tech

With a bagful of tricks and presents, Santa Claus, sponsored by the Photography Class, dropped in at Tech last Christmas. A stack of new or slightly used election sheets for Mr. Nicolai, who seems to appreciate the point in the gift, and ancient Artisans for the members of the Accounting Office were among the presents St. Nick handed out. In his usual jovial manner he just took over the principal's job for a few minutes, and put in a long distance call to the North Pole from the office switchboard. Highlight of the visit came in the Cafeteria, where he sampled a piece of our excellent cherry pie. Typical of the Christmas trees and celebrations in the various shops and departments was the one in Cabinet Shop 300, where the boys had a surprise present for Mr. Bruckwick. The Glee Club caroled and the Junior Band played in the halls, but the pictures got lost in the shuffle.

Boys and Gals Dress Up for Tech Proms

"A Night in May" and "Winter Serenade," proms for the classes of June 1949 and January 1950, featured beauty and gaiety, especially among the "royalty" for the occasions. King Al Bober and Queen Betty Kitkowski are shown with the Court of Honor for the "Night in May" (upper right), and below are two close-ups of the king and queen for the occasion. King Arthur Posselt and Queen Donna Langlois, reigning royalty for the "Winter Serenade," are shown with their Court of Honor (left center), while above is a close-up of the happy and handsome couple. Class officers Paul Tetzlaff, Robert Koeslin, and Thomas Kelpin and their "queens" for the prom are pictured below.

Commencement scenes of last January and last June include Robert Goggins talking to Judge Herbert J. Steffes, judge of Municipal Court, speaker at the mid-year exercises; Mr. Walter P. Schmitter, chief engineer of the Falk Corporation, speaker last June; Harry Lijewski, giving the valedictory; Mr. Ziegenhagen receiving the class gift from Geoffrey Maciolek; Donald Van Aman receiving the American Society of Tool Engineers Scholarship from Mr. Robert Bodendoerfer, member of the Educational Committee, and Mr. Arthur E. Gudert, chairman of the Local Chapter of the A S T E; and the usual Cap and Gown Day scene of grads auto-graphing Artisans.

Seniors Are Serious — Sometimes

New Alumni Association Is Formed

After a lapse of many years, a new start was made in organizing the alumni of Boys' Tech at an enthusiastic meeting in the school cafeteria last fall. Acting President Roy Potochnik is shown as he turned over the office to President-Elect George Wussow (upper right). Other officers in the picture are William Noehl, secretary, Joseph Tondryk, vice president, and Geoffrey Maciolek, Treasurer.

Norbert Diedrich, the old treasurer, is shown turning over the job to the new treasurer (lower right), and the new treasurer, Maciolek, went to work immediately (lower left) collecting dues from new members.

The men at the mike are Mr. C. R. Francke, Roy Potochnik, and Coach Clarence Schorr, the latter also a Tech alumnus. Mr. L. R. Thomas, who evidently eluded the photographer that evening, was active in arranging this meeting.

In Memoriam

THOMAS F. HENEY

After serving as vice principal of Kosciuszko Junior Trade School for twenty-six years, Mr. Heney came to Boys' Tech last September as a member of the English Department. He attended St. Norbert's College, Green Bay, and received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Marquette University. Mr. Heney's death came as a shock to all who knew him, despite the fact that he had been ill for several weeks. Those who were his students miss his council, and the school mourns his loss.

Some Teachers Don't Have Homerooms

Several teachers are on duty in various offices or are assigned to school activities during the homeroom period. Some are members of the Guidance Department or take care of attendance in 140 or 113. Others are engaged in making class programs, taking care of lockers, helping with school publicity, handling ticket sales and accounts, scheduling classroom movies, and assisting in school affairs in other ways. And one of them, Mr. Kastner, has been assigned for the greater part of the year to the School Architect's office at the Administration Building.

Techites Make the Headlines

Newsworthy events and familiar scenes during the last year include Franklin Strothman's prize-winning painting in The Journal calendar competition (Milwaukee Journal Photo), the 8:15 rush in the School Book Store, the X-raying of Tech Students by the Health Department, Mr. Thomas instructing new students in making out programs, library monitors helping to catalog books, student composers Sterle, Fisher, and Loehendorf comparing notes on their compositions for the 1949 Spring Concert (Milwaukee Journal Photo), Al Buettner of W T M J going over the script with disc jockeys Patricia Dore and John Frakes at the Teen Age Time broadcast, and Carl Dentice, young Tech table tennis star, with his many trophies (Milwaukee Journal Photo).

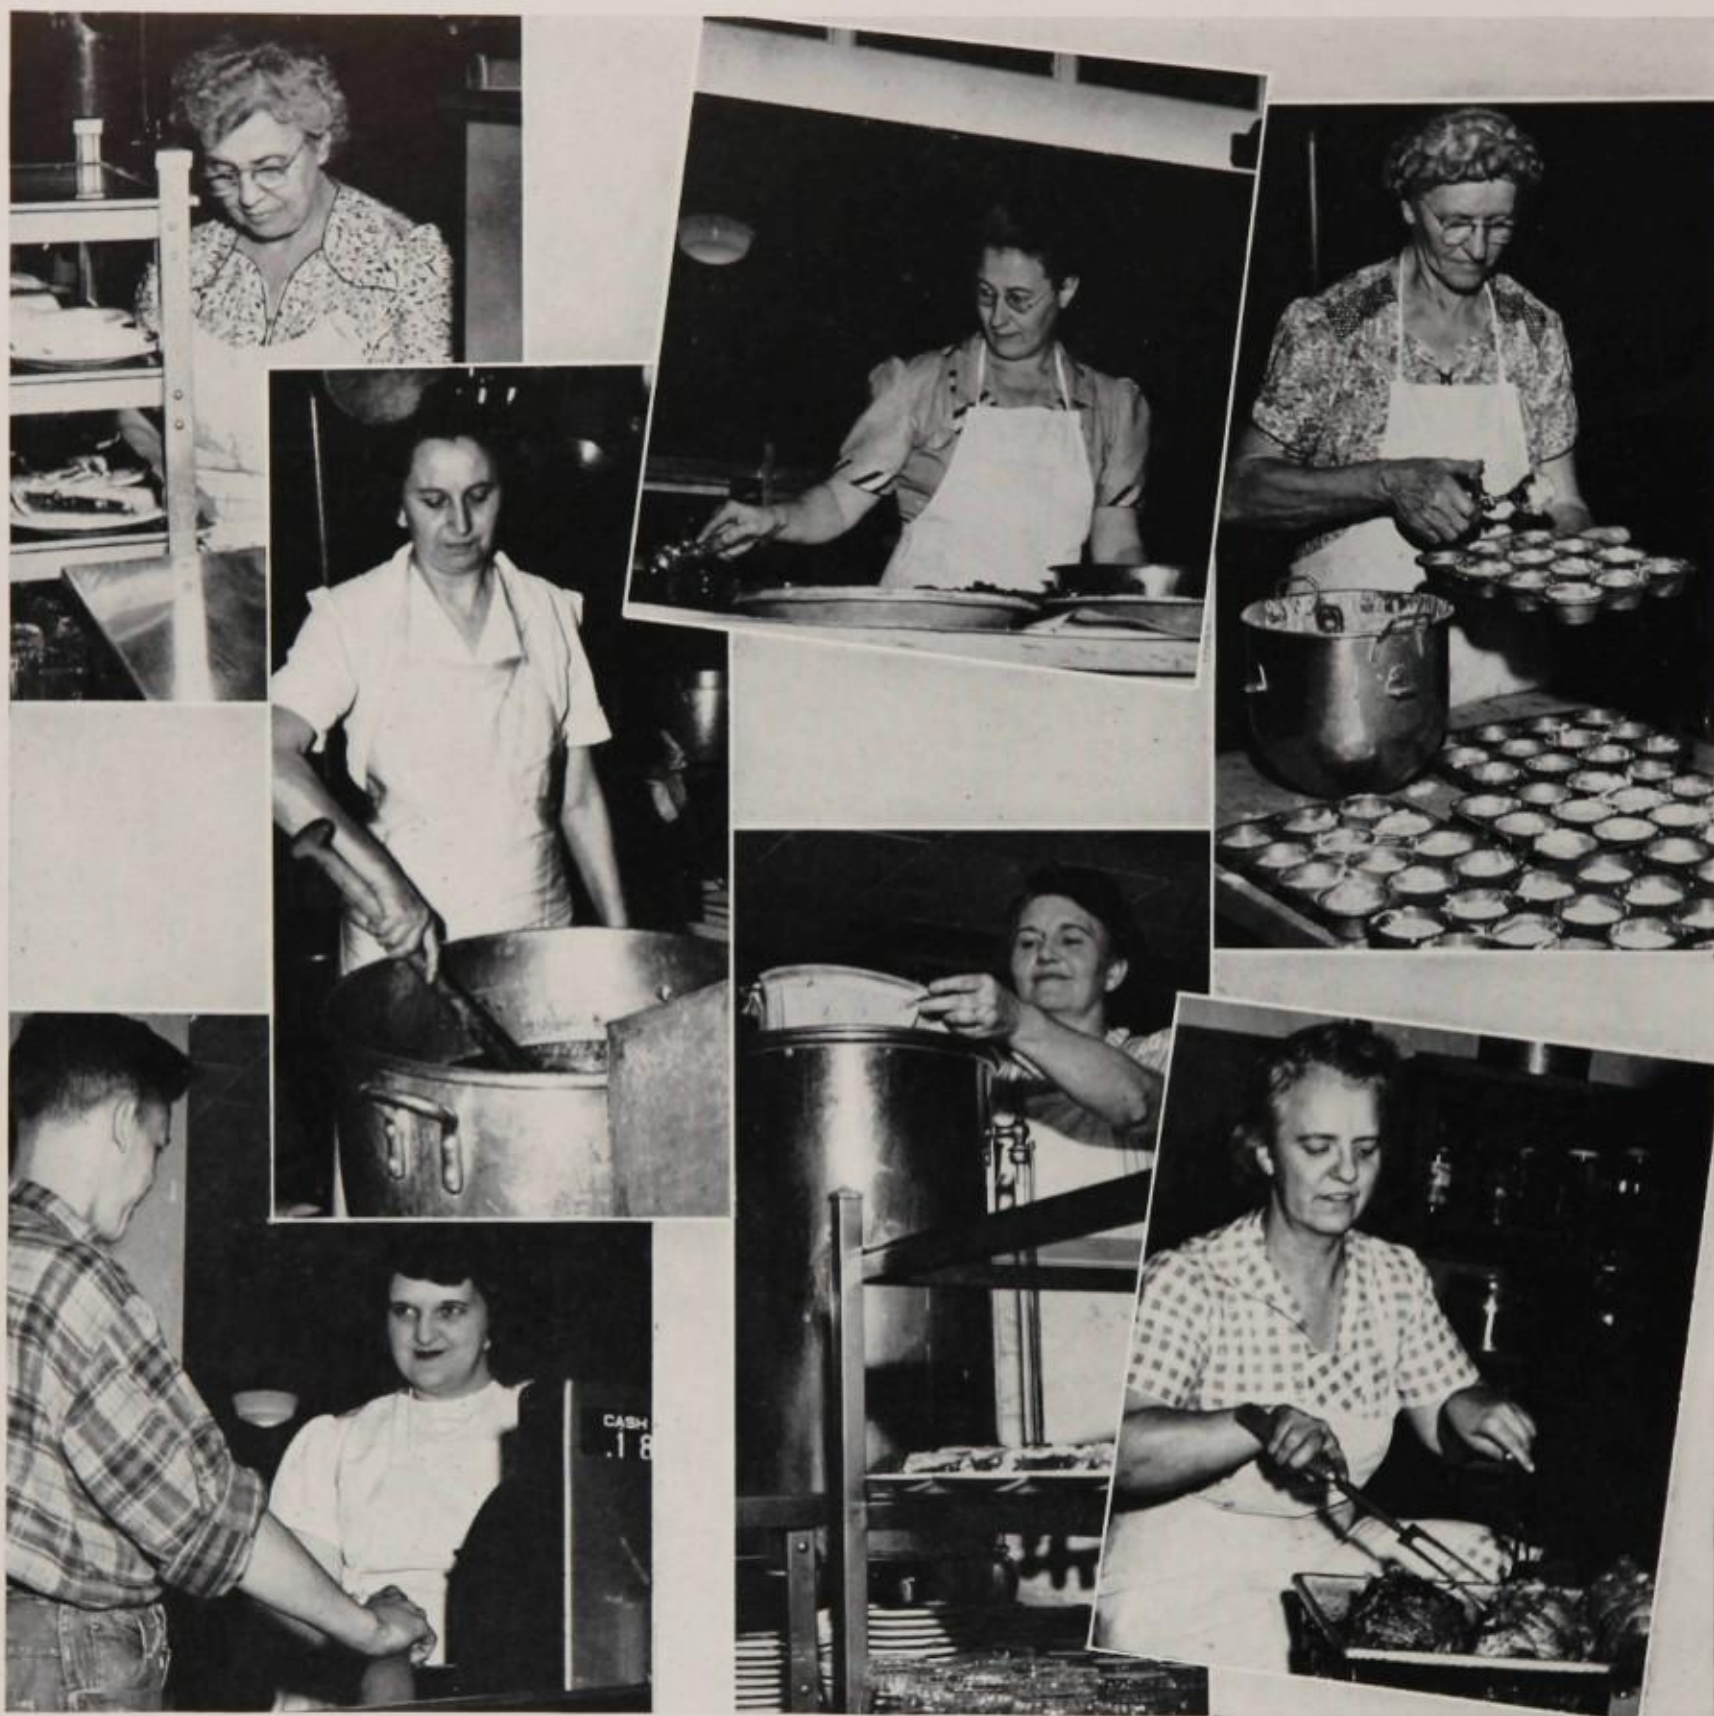

School Cameras Catch Interesting Snaps

They Feed the Hungry Multitudes

For three periods each day, the Cafeteria is one of the busiest and most popular places at Boys' Tech. It's there that the Trojan "elite meet to eat." Always in demand, and sometimes most popular, are desserts, so here we see Mrs. Emma Grevnow placing pie on the display counter for the hungry boys to choose from, and Mrs. Bernadotte Lange is shown behind the ice cream counter, ready to dish out two, three, or four-scoop orders of this popular food. Chief pie maker and general pastry expert is Mrs. Martha Hafemeister, who is preparing muffins for the oven. Soup, one of the specialties of Mrs. Katherine Henning, chief of the Cafeteria staff, is receiving the finishing touches (right center). Ringing up the cash sales is also important, and Miss Leora McLay is doing that at one of the two cash registers. Coffee, preferred by teachers and some boys, is prepared by Mrs. Mildred Kuehn, and meat is done to a turn by Miss Lena Belobraidich.

They Keep the Place Shipshape

Collaborating to keep the school in good running order are the members of the maintenance crew—the school engineers, firemen, and sweepers. They work early and late to keep the rooms and shops clean, the building heated, the lights burning, and the equipment in order. Mrs. Antonia Buntek, Mrs. Mabel Warras, and Mrs. Amelia Cirey (upper right) work through the afternoon and early evening hours to clean up the classrooms, corridors, and offices. The man with the million-dollar smilt (upper left) is Edwin Suminski, the school's obliging handyman. Andrew Kurtz and Leo Friske are shown (right center) at one of the school's many fuse boxes. August Osinski, Ernest Peschel, and Harlan Andrich were corralled in the boiler room for this informal pose. And Wilbur H. Vance, head school engineer, was finally cornered by our photographer after one of two vain attempts (lower right). Val Prendergast seems to have been off duty when the pictures were taken.
